Freak accident kills mom and young son

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

A rather bizarre electrical accident left an Antioch Township mother and her son dead, and investigators were scratching their heads over the freak and fatal mishap that could have been avoided.

When Gail Luna, 28, went to leash a family dog to a home-made dog run which was tied to a live wire, she literally became the ground for the live wire and was shocked to death.

Her son, Ronald Jackson, 10, thought his mother fainted and raced to a neighbor's house to call 911. When he returned to his mother, he either touched his mother or the wire which shocked him as well.

'All this boy was trying to do was help his mom.'

—Corporal Tom Braze

"All this boy was trying to do was help his mom," noted Corporal Tom Braze of the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

Both Antioch Fire Department and Antioch Rescue Squad responded to the call at about 11:38 a.m., Tuesday morning. Luna lived on Lotus Avenue near Lake-Marie in unincorporated Antioch Township.

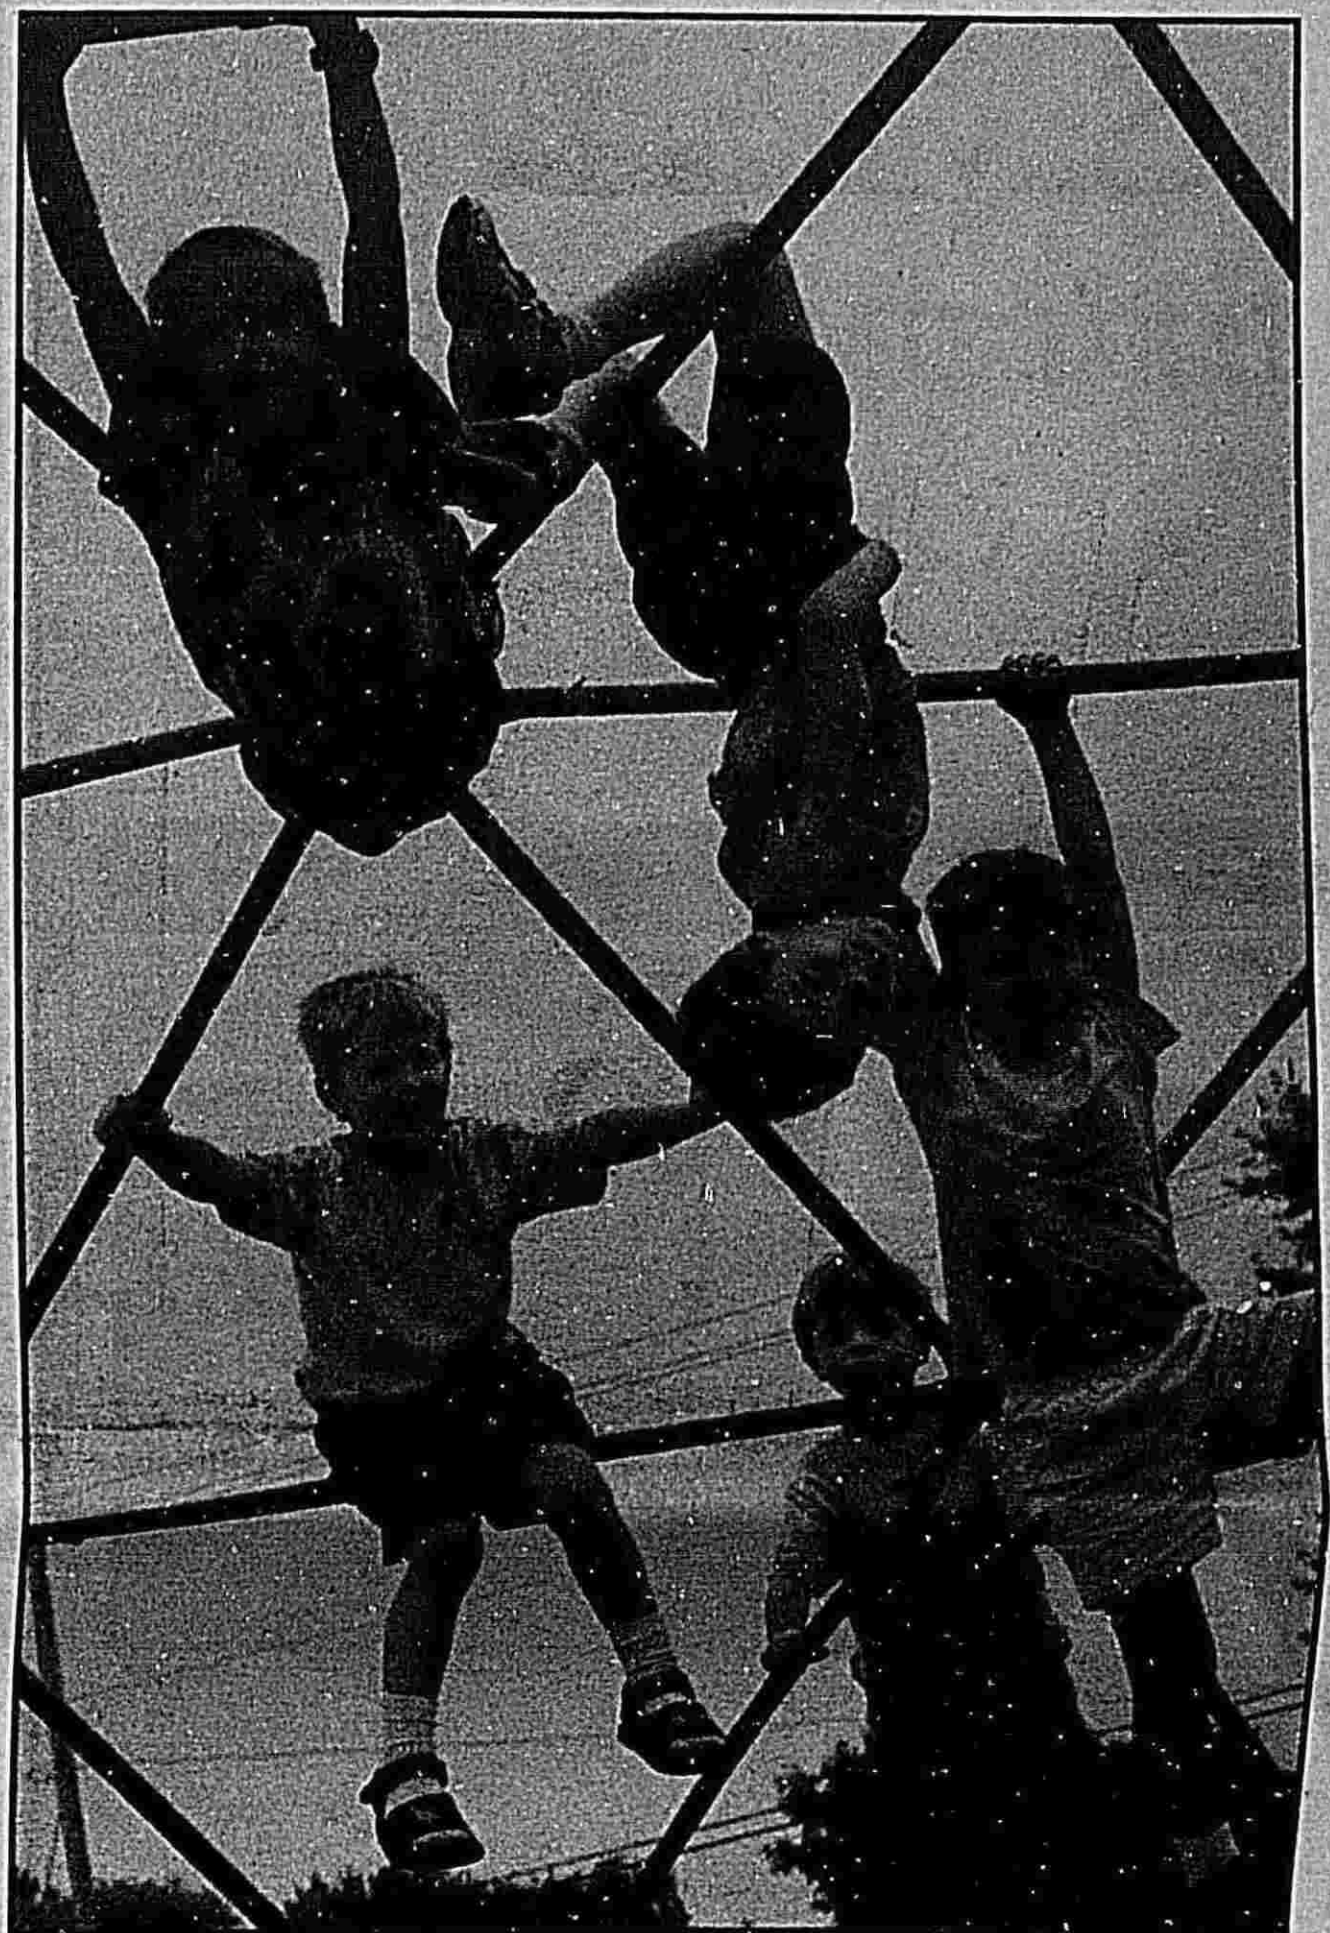

"Both of them were in full arrest when we got there," noted Rescue Squad Chief Tim Osmond. Resuscitation efforts failed. Luna and Jackson were pronounced dead at Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry later in the afternoon.

Fire Chief Dennis Volling was among the first on the scene. Rescue personnel immediately cut the power to try to save the mother and son.

According to Volling, a cable was being used as a dog run which was tied to a live wire under the porch of the house. Over time, Volling said the cable wore the insulation around the wire.

"When she pulled the cable to tie the dog, it stripped the wire which energized the cable," said Volling, who is also an electrician for Antioch Electric.

More than 2,400 chickens were barbecued and more than $25,000 was raised during the annual Lions Club Chicken BBQ Picnic and Antioch Rescue Squad Auction.

Although financial reports were not available yet, Lions Club organizers are predicting a record-setting year as far as dollars raised.

Chuck Cermak, a Lions Club organizer, indicated that club members prepared 2,400 chicken dinners this year as compared to 2,200 the last couple of years.

"It was a record-breaking year as far as chicken dinners sold," Cermak said. "The people supported us as well this year as they have in any other year."

For other comparisons, he noted that the Lions Club sold more than 100 cases of pop and nearly 65 cases of corn on the cob.

"The weather was just perfect. We were really lucky with Mother Nature," Cermak said.

During the auction, Antioch Rescue Squad Chief Tim Osmond said in excess of $25,000 was raised this year.

"It went as smooth and slick as could be," Osmond said. "We raised as much this year as we have the last couple of years."

The auction accounts for a major portion of the Antioch Rescue Squad budget which is an all-volunteer force. Proceeds benefit new equipment for the rescue squad and pays for training.

Osmond also praised the efforts of the Antioch Junior Woman's See BBQ page A10

Antioch Vikings award first scholarship

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

In the Antioch Vikings Youth Football program, leadership starts early and tends to stick with a person.

League President Al Roth awarded J.J. Larson, a Carmel High School graduate living in Bristol, Wis., with the first annual Antioch Vikings Youth Football Scholarship.

The scholarship is awarded to former Antioch Vikings players who have continued football in high school, graduated high school and who are going to college.

Larson was the first recipient of the $1,000 scholarship.

Antioch Community High School star linebacker Jason Breen was also awarded the scholarship, but the scholarship money was put back into the program as Breen opted for military service following high school.

"The program is for boys who have come up through the program and who gave back with their time and leadership," Roth explained.

Following a stint as a Viking heavyweight in 1992, Larson returned to the program to assist Roth with a weight-training program for seventh- and eighth-graders.

Last year, Larson officiated all flag football games on Sundays. He helped with announcing games played on the main field and he lent a hand in the concession stand.

"J.J. has definitely been a leader," Roth said. "He's always been there for the kids."

But Larson only felt compelled to give back to the program that gave him a head start when he reached the high school level.

After two years of playing for the Antioch Sequoias, Larson's family moved to Bristol. Despite the commute, Larson wanted to attend academically challenging Carmel High School and he wanted to play football for the Carmel Corsairs in the mighty Catholic League.

"Antioch Vikings gave me a great stepping stone into high school football," Larson said. "It taught me how to play the game. It just put me a step ahead of everybody else."

Now, Larson is preparing to play middle linebacker for the Pioneers at the University of Wisconsin at Platteville, home of the Chicago Bears training camp.

Even more intriguing, Larson is going to try to combine a rigorous football season with a demanding school schedule as he studies to become a civil engineer.

"I'm going to try my hardest and see if I can do both," Larson said.

His ultimate goal is to get a master's degree in civil engineering from the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

In the end, the Antioch Vikings Youth Football Scholarship may have given Larson another stepping stone to another goal.

Park rental increases for non-residents

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

After years of charging the same for park rental for residents and non-residents alike, the village board approved a new plan that installs a rental fee and raises park rental fees for non-residents.

Earlier in the year, the village board asked the park board to investigate a possible fee schedule for residents and non-residents.

"Everyone was charged the same," noted Trustee Dorothy Larson. "People could come in from other cities or other states and use the parks for the same price as residents."

The new park rental policy approved by the board includes a breakdown according to village residents, township residents, and other.

- For parties under 50 people, cost is $15 for village residents, $20 for township residents, and $30 for others;

- For parties between 50 to 150 people, cost is $50 for village residents, $60 for township residents, and $100 for others;

- For parties over 150 people, cost is $100 for village residents, $110 for township residents, and $200 for others.

A $50 deposit is required for all people who rent the parks regardless of the size of the party.

"We're not increasing the charges for village residents at all," Larson pointed out.

Cheryl McCameron, director of the parks department, noted she checked the fees at other surrounding park departments and park districts including Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Round Lake, and the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

"There's always a distinction in fees between residents and non-residents," McCameron told trustees. "Some places do not even rent their parks to groups from out of town."

Larson said only a small hike was included for township residents because many residents were instrumental in the building and funding of some parks. Many, for example, assisted with the construction of Centennial Park.

"We don't want them to feel they're not a part of the community," Larson said. "They put in a lot of time and sweat into our parks."

Trustee Wayne Foresta suggested increasing the fees even higher for people who live outside the township. Trustees may consider increasing those fees after the first year under the new policy.

The new park rental policy will go into effect beginning with the 1997 calendar year. Reservations for the year will be taken beginning Jan. 1.

Library impact fees increase for new homes

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

At the request of the Antioch Library District, the Antioch village board approved a hike in impact fees for the library.

The new impact fee, which is levied at the time a new building permit is issued, affects all new homes built within the district. The new fee increases from $99 last year to $106 per building permit.

Kathy LaBuda, director of the library, said the increase is standard every year as the library tries to recuperate possible lost tax revenues from new homes built.

She noted that new homebuyers can live in their new homes for up to a year and a half before having to pay library district taxes.

"The more people who move into the area, the more demands that are placed on services," LaBuda said.

She said impact fees are a way to capture lost taxes on new homes.

"That way, they're paying for services right away," LaBuda noted.

She said the library district board is in the process of planning for new growth in both the size of the facilities and in technology upgrades. The library is planning for Internet access in the near future.

"We'll bring the Internet out to the floor, so people can search on the Internet," she said. The library is already connected to the Internet.

She also said the board will be discussing other needs such as more books, more space and more parking at the downtown location.

Antioch demands park fees

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees are seeking park impact fees from a new subdivision even though the development falls outside village limits.

The village board lent its support behind the "Golden Oaks" subdivision planned in unincorporated Antioch Township on Route 45 north of Route 173.

Even though the board supports the concept plan for the new development, trustees want it made clear to the County Board that the Village of Antioch expects impact fees from the developer for Antioch parks.

"I think we should go on our word that we like the development with the assumption that we get our park fees," said Trustee Marvin Oldenburger.

The proposed Golden Oaks subdivision includes 25 lots on 95 total acres near Deer Lake and Redwing Slough.

Since the new development falls within 1.5 miles of Antioch, the village board can convey its support or reservations about the new subdivision. The Lake County Framework Plan provides input from villages when unincorporated developments are 1.5 miles from neighboring villages.

"It falls within county zoning," noted Antioch Building Commissioner Robert Silhan. The county generally limits the density of new developments to no more than 2 units per acre.

An Antioch comprehensive plan, however, calls for the property to be zoned for bigger estates with one home on 5 acres.

But trustees supported the higher density which still calls for 25 luxury homes on 95 acres. The lots would have individual wells and septic. There would be no village sewer infrastructure at this time.

"We do not have the option to change the zoning," pointed out Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

Silhan said the village was not in a position to annex the property any time soon.

Nevertheless, Oldenburger demanded that the subdivision pay impact fees for parks.

The village approved the Golden Oaks subdivision with the stipulation that a park impact fee agreement would be in the works.

Rte. 45 crash kills elderly man

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

A crash on Rte. 45 took the life of a 73-year-old Round Lake Beach man.

The accident occurred Aug. 2 at 10:35 a.m. on Rte. 45 about a 1/2 mile south of Sand Lake Road. Frank Corbett died from injuries sustained in the crash.

According to Lake County Sheriff's Department, James Miller, 19, of Zion was driving southbound on Rte. 45 when he observed another car blocking the southbound lane of traffic. He tried to avoid an accident but was unable to.

Miller struck the quarter panel of the 1982 Buick Skylark driven by the Corbett which causing the man to be ejected from his seat.

Flight for Life was called, but the doctor called the man dead at the scene and transport wasn't necessary.

Sheriff's Department officials aren't sure why the car was blocking the southbound lane of traffic. There are no roads or driveways in that area.

The accident is not related to the intersection of Rte. 45 and Sand Lake Road. That intersection had its share of accidents until traffic signals were installed last spring.

Miller was taken to Lake Forest Hospital where he was treated and released. He was ticketed for the accident.

Traffic on Rte. 45 was rerouted for an hour after the crash.

The Sheriff's Department is continuing the investigation.

Jet skier injured in 'careless' crash

Lake County Sheriff's Marine Unit officers carried out assistance to two men involved in a jet ski accident early this week.

On a sunny Aug. 4, around 3:26 p.m., the marine patrol was called to Mineola Bay on Fox Lake where a jet skier reportedly jumped a wave and hit another head on.

Capt. Willie Smith of the Lake County Marine Unit termed this as another careless accident. "What it boils down to, is not paying attention," said Smith.

A nearby pontoon boat operator took his vessel over to assist the men.

According to reports, Kirk Delise, 37, of Riverside suffered a possible broken leg and wrist. The operator of the other jet ski, Joseph Sotomayor, 38, of Chicago had no visible injuries, said police.

Fox Lake rescue transported Delise to the Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry.

Hit and run driver still being sought

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

Police are still seeking information in a hit and run accident which seriously injured a late night bicyclist.

Nathan Ovitt, 21, of Mundelein, was the victim of a hit and run accident Aug. 1, at approximately 12:10 a.m. Ovitt was riding his bike along Route 45 headed north, just south of Route 120, when he was hit. He is currently listed in serious condition at Condell Medical Center of Libertyville. Police are searching for a possible witness and the driver of the vehicle which hit him.

A motorist noticed a mangled bike along the side of Rt. 45 around 12:40 a.m. and notified police. It wasn't until the police went to the scene that Ovitt was discovered unconscious on the side of the road. Sergeant Matt McCutcheon of the Grayslake Police Department said they estimated the victim laid there for half an hour.

Some evidence was collected from the scene and submitted to the Northern Illinois Police Crime Lab for examination.

No witness has come forward and police are asking anyone who may have information on the accident to notify them at 223-2341.

Antioch called for night of remembrance

Once again this little town of ours has proven to have a really big heart. Friends of Paul Waszak and Chaneice Cermak have put together a benefit in loving memory of the two young adults who recently journeyed together on an everlasting voyage. The benefit will be held on Saturday, August 17 at the Waterfall Restaurant in Antioch beginning at 8 p.m. There will be a DJ, dancing, door prizes and raffles throughout the evening.

Everyone is welcome to participate, young and old alike. Tickets are $8 and may be purchased at the door or in advance and raffle tickets will be available for $1 each or six for $5. The organizers of this event are trying to put together a memory book dedicated to the beloved teens.

They would like you to submit a favorite memory you shared with either Paul or Chaneice or perhaps with the two of them together. The organizers would like to receive your written thoughts by Sunday, August 11.

They may be mailed to Kathy Werchek, 308 Hawthorne Ct., Antioch, or Marie Brausam, 25324 Hilldale, Antioch. If you have any questions or any items you would like to donate for the raffles, or if you would like advanced tickets, please call Kathy at 838-0591 or Marie at 395-1236.

Expect to shed a few tears this Saturday night, but also be prepared to remember fondly these two cherished friends. This evening is an attempt to keep alive the memory of two young people who will be missed by many, but forgotten by none.

FOOT SURGERY FOR SENIORS

Foot surgery can help older persons keep active and independent.

If you are a senior citizen who is having podiatric problems, age alone is no reason for automatically ruling out surgical treatment. In a consultation, various aspects of the problem and alternative treatments will be discussed. Consider:

1. Does the expected outcome justify undergoing the surgery?
 2. Healing may take a little longer, especially if you have impaired circulation or less-than-ideal nutritional levels.
 3. Most elderly persons recover better when they are able to get back on their feet and remain active. In-office procedures usually allow a faster return to mobility.
- Your podiatrist will be able to give you a clear picture of what will be involved, and will help you decide whether or not you are a good candidate for foot surgery.

Park Happenings

Programs offered for tots, preschool and young students

Three different programs for young children will be offered through the Antioch Department of Parks and Recreation.

Registration for "Camp Crayon," "Me, Myself and Mom," and the "Village Campus" will be held Aug. 17 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the parks office.

Camp Crayon is a preschool program for children age 3 to 5. Cost is $55 for village residents, per six-week session. The class meets two times a week for three hours a day. A $25 deposit is required at time of registration.

Me, Myself and Mom is a mom and tot program.

"We will meet new friends, play new games, do various crafts and learn new songs," organizers said. "Our program is designed to introduce 2- and 3-year-olds to activities."

The program is 12 weeks long and meets on Fridays. Cost for the program is $45 for village residents and is required at time of registration.

Village Campus is a before and after school program for children in first through sixth grade. The program meets from 7 a.m. until school begins and after school until 6 p.m.

The program also provides care for young students on institute days and most school holidays.

For more information about the three programs, call 395-2160.

Moms and sons look forward to 'Splish, Splash' at the pool

Mom, now it's your turn to spend quality time with your son as moms will have the chance to jump into the pool with their sons.

The Antioch Parks and Recreation Department will be holding its first annual "Mother Son Splish Splash Pool Bash."

"This is the first one. We have never organized a mother/son night," noted Rachel Beattie of the parks department.

The first "Splish Splash Pool Bash" will be held Sept. 6 from 6 to 8 p.m.

The idea for a mother/son night was spawned after the success of the Daddy Daughter Date Night held at Antioch Community High School.

"Moms were kind of jealous of the success of the Father/Daughter dance," Beattie said. "They wanted to do something with their sons."

In addition to swimming, there will be food, games, face painting, clowns and a moon walk.

"There will be other things to do besides swimming," Beattie noted.

Instead of having pictures taken, a little personal touch will be added. Moms and sons will have the opportunity to have a caricature drawing done together.

The event is $15 per couple, and $5 for each additional child. Cost includes all expenses.

Registration will be held at the Parks and Recreation Office. For more information, call 395-2160.

Lions adopt roads into Antioch

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Lions have the three points of entry into Antioch covered.

As another one of its many do-good acts of service and generosity, the Antioch Lions Club now tries to keep the roadways leading into Antioch clean as part of the Illinois Department of Transportation's "Adopt-A-Highway" program.

IDOT lived up to its promise of installing signs to publicize what the Lions Club is doing on various stretches of roadway.

The Lions Club adopted the section of Route 83 from the state-line to Beach Grove Road, a section of Route 59 from Route 173 to Beach Grove Road, and a section of Route 173 from Deep Lake Road to Tiffany.

"It's an ambitious project," commented Mayor Marilyn Shineflug, who has tried to get other organizations to do likewise. "The village is proud of the Lions to take this on."

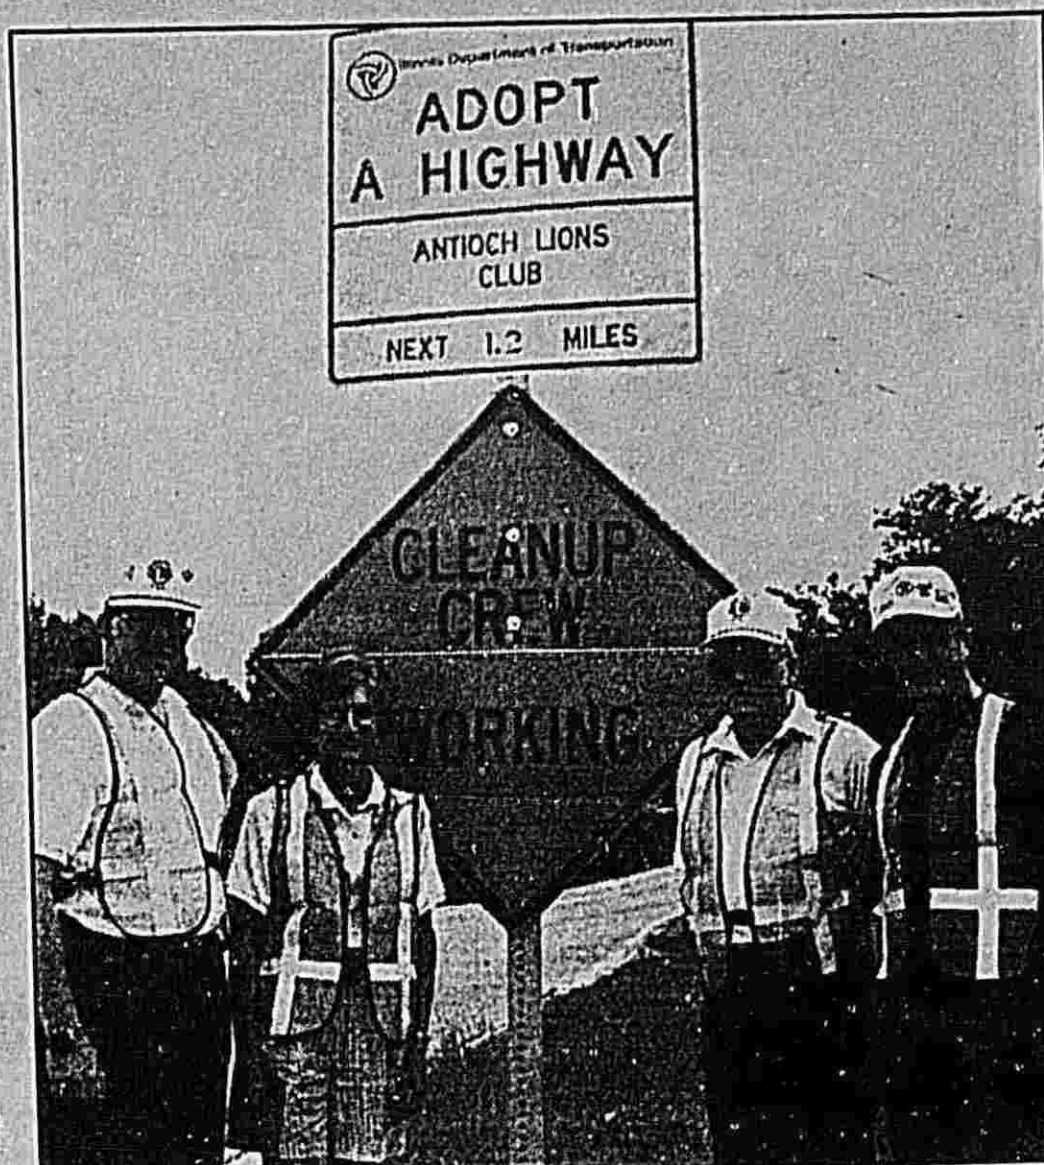

By adopting these stretches of roadway, the Lions Club pledged to clean those sections of debris and other garbage at least four times a year.

"These are the main arteries leading into town," noted Chuck Cermak, chairman of the Adopt-A-Highway committee for the Lions Club.

The first clean-up day was in June. Lions Club members and other volunteers took to the roads with garbage bags in hand. IDOT provides special vests, bags and the signs which also warn motorists when people are working.

"It could be done every weekend," commented Bob Mueller, vice president of the Lions Club. He said the quantity of trash on the side of roads is so great it takes a club the size of the Lions to clean.

There are more than 125 members in the Lions Club, making it one of the largest, if not the largest, Lions Club in the state.

The Antioch Lions Club will keep the major roads into the village clean as part of the "Adopt-A-Highway" program. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug joined Lions Vice President Bob Mueller, President Bill "Fuzzy" Ferguson, and Chuck Cermak, who spearheaded the project, as they revealed the new signs.

"It takes a civic club as large as the Lions Club to cover that many miles," Mueller said.

Cermak challenges other local organizations or groups to take on other stretches of roadway. The Lake County Department of Transportation also has an Adopt-A-Highway program for county roads.

"We're taking little bits of roadway. Now let's see if other groups continue the stretch like on Rte. 59 south to Grass Lake Road," Cermak said.

The Lions Club is now looking to get "911" signs posted in the community. In addition, the club just completed its annual chicken picnic which benefits the Antioch Rescue Squad. The club also distributes baskets at Christmas and Thanksgiving and assists needy people who require sunglasses or hearing improvements. It also is involved with a bone marrow program and participates in various civic events like the July 4th parade.

"The reason why we can do so many things is the people in the community and the surrounding area really support us," said Bill "Fuzzy" Ferguson, president of the Lions Club.

For more information about the Lions Club, call Cermak at Chuck's All American Travel Corner at 395-2772.

Law keeps seniors informed about weather

Illinois senior citizens will have easier access to assistance and information about severe weather conditions under a new law sponsored by Senator Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and signed into law by Governor Jim Edgar.

Distance learning class offered in Chinese language

A distance learning course "Beginning Chinese (CHI 121)" will be offered by the College of Lake County in the fall semester starting Aug. 26. Distance learning is an alternative learning method that used two-way videoconferencing technology to allow students at different locations to participate in the same class. Students and instructors communicate with each other using television monitors, microphones and cameras.

The four-credit-hour class will be offered from 6 to 9:45 p.m. on Mondays for 16 weeks. It will originate from A225 on CLC's Grayslake campus, with linkages to distance learning sites at Oakton Community College in Skokie and the North Suburban Library System in Wheeling. Students may enroll to attend class at any of these locations.

The course is the first semester of a one-year introduction to Mandarin Chinese, the official standard language of Mainland China and Taiwan. Students will work on developing basic listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills within the context of modern Chinese culture.

For course information, call 223-6601, ext. 2550.

Quality technician program offers career opportunity

A new quality technician associate degree program will be offered by the College of Lake County starting in the fall semester. The two-year degree program will provide students with the technical skills necessary for certification and employment as a quality technician in a manufacturing or service setting.

For information about the program, contact the engineering, math and physical science division at 223-6601, ext. 2498.

little or no warning, leaving many senior citizens unprepared to deal with the harsh conditions and resulting damage," said Geo-Karis. "With the right information available to them, seniors can prepare in advance for adverse conditions or call for assistance from organizations who provide relief."

House Bill 3547 was signed into law Tuesday, requiring the Illinois Department on Aging (IDOA) to inform seniors on safety issues regarding weather conditions such as extreme temperatures, flooding, tornadoes and electrical storms.

"After last summer's heat wave and the recent flooding in northern Illinois, I think we can all see that information on weather issues is needed," Geo-Karis said. "The availability of this information will allow seniors to seek help during severe weather conditions from organizations trained to handle such emergencies."

IDOA will distribute informational materials on this subject statewide through the 13 local Area Agencies on Aging. The pamphlets will include safety instructions and emergency telephone numbers for organizations that can provide additional information or assistance in cases of severe weather.

Antioch's Pickard China maintains worldwide reputation

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

One of Antioch's best-kept secrets has built its reputation on catering to the President of the United States, the Queen of England, and other notable heads of state.

For three generations now, Pickard China has been regarded as one of America's—if not, the world's—finest china makers.

"We designed the china that flies on Air Force One," Parisi proudly pointed out. Air Force One is the special aircraft the President of the United States uses to commute to worldwide summits and other meetings of world importance.

In 1989, former President George Bush personally placed the order for "The Presidential Bowl" which honored the bicentennial of

'We're still small; we're still family owned, and we still make the world's finest china.'

— Sandra Parisi

"One of the interesting things of this company is its determination to keep this art alive," noted Sandra Parisi in charge of special markets.

The Pickard family went out of its way to find just the right combination of clays to produce one of the most durable and yet remarkably brilliant china in the world.

"You can break it; you can drop it, but the handle will never come off," Parisi mused about the china's strength.

Furthermore, Pickard China has searched the world for artisans and craftsmen to add their personal touch to the hand-painted pieces. Artists have hailed from the Art Institute of Chicago, while renowned ceramic artists from Europe have crossed the ocean to continue their craft here.

"It's a dying art," Parisi noted.

Pickard was first established in Edgerton, Wis., in 1883, before Wilder Austin Pickard moved his plant to Chicago in 1897. Since 1937, Pickard China has been located in the peaceful lakes region of Antioch.

And the company has maintained its reputation for producing the world's finest dinnerware, decorative accessories and collectibles.

the U.S. Presidency.

In fact, the "Palace Royale" dinnerware collection with its deep, blue cobalt rims, gold bordering, and Great Seal of the United States is the official embassy china. Pickard China can be found in 200 embassies and 100 consulates.

In addition, china was created for Queen Elizabeth II of England featuring the royal racing silks.

Pickard has been selected to produce the fine china for many prestigious hotels, restaurants and corporations around the world.

While the backbone of the company is still dinnerware, the company is moving more toward corporate accounts and exports and of course custom gifts.

"We're still small; we're still family owned, and we still make the world's finest china," Parisi said.

Pickard China also features an outlet store on the factory premises. The outlet store offers coffee mugs, candlesticks, vases and bowls of all shapes and sizes at 40 to 60 percent discount prices.

The outlet store at 782 Pickard Avenue is open Monday through Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information, call 395-3800.

Antioch's Pickard China designed and crafted the fine dinnerware china (above) that is currently used on Air Force One, the airplane the President of the United States uses to travel to summits. Pickard has maintained a worldwide reputation for hand-crafting some of the world's finest china which has attracted the tastes of presidents, kings and queens. Pickard also makes custom-made china. An outlet store is open Monday through Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information, call 395-3800.

Antioch Public Library to offer fall program through Sept. 7 or until classes are filled. Anyone disabled that wants to attend, can contact the library at least two weeks in advance of the program at 395-0874 so that arrangements can be made.

Survivor slowly goes back to boating

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Fox Lake resident Robert "Bob" Heaney is slowly getting his feet wet again, after being involved in a deadly boating accident last month.

Earlier this week, Heaney gathered his strength, remembering the recreation he loved so much. He boarded a boat operated by his friend Bob Trinski Jr.

Though Heaney said Trinski can be cited as a good operator, being out on the boat after three people, including a close friend, were killed, was unnerving.

After his first ride out since then, he explained how it felt. "I was a little leery," he said. "I was looking all around."

On Wednesday, Heaney, the owner of Heaney's RV Storage, said he was heading to Racine to look at a small marina near one of his favorite fishing spots on Lake Michigan. Fishing is a sport he says he'll never give up.

Heaney said while he believes he will eventually get back into boating, the darkness, like the time of night when the fatality occurred, may be harder to conquer.

"I haven't been out at night, or to Blarney's Island since," said Heaney.

On July 11, Heaney had been riding in a boat with his friend, vessel operator Arnold "Dick" Carlson, Chris Carlson, and Michael Nank. Later they acquired another passenger, Renee Roman.

The five were heading out of Blarney's Island after the Thursday night boat races, when they were suddenly struck by another boat around 10 p.m. on Nippersink Lake.

Both Carlsons were killed, as well as Roman. Heaney and Nank survived with minor injuries.

Correction

Lakeland Newspapers regrets a typographical error found in the County section (B) story about Arnold "Dick" Carlson. It states he had a blood-alcohol level of 1.75, when in fact the correct amount was actually .175. Lakeland Newspapers apologizes for the error.

"It was an ungrounded system. That circuit was looking for a ground, and she was acting as the ground," Volling said. "I have never seen anything like this."

Furthermore, Volling noted that Luna was wearing only a bathing suit and was barefoot on wet grass.

Both were shocked with about 120 volts.

"When he touched her," Volling said of the son trying to help his collapsed mother, "he went down and fell on top of the cable."

Both Osmond and Volling said this was the first electrocution call they ever responded to. "This was really a fluke thing," Osmond said. "She became the perfect ground for the current."

Investigators from the Lake County Sheriff's Department, the Lake County Building and Zoning Department, and the Antioch Fire Department are looking into the case.

Officials are urging homeowners to avoid handling loose electrical wires.

"All electrical work should be installed by a qualified electrician," Volling said.

"We also had a lot of little items that sold very well,"

Osmond said.

He did note that the number of bidders was down as compared to previous years.

"It may have been too nice of a day," Osmond said.

Grayslake High's athletic department will hold a "Fall Sport Sign-up" on Saturday, Aug. 10 at 10 a.m. for all athletes and parents of athletes who plan to participate in fall sports.

The agenda will include: all athletic information provided by Dan Dillon, athletic director; explanation and signing of all forms; collection of physicals and $50 participation fee and team meetings so athletes and parents can meet and ask questions of the coaches.

Football practice begins Aug. 14 with all other sports reporting Aug. 19.

For more information on the meetings, call Dillon at 223-3563.

Meanwhile, Dillon will be welcoming several new assistant coaches to his staff as the Rams prepare for the Aug. 30 home opener against Mundelein. Mike Jones will be defensive coordinator and Tom Wittum will also assist on the varsity; Mike Dimatteo is the new sophomore coach and social studies teacher; Northwestern University and Antioch High grad Mike Warren, who played in the Rose Bowl, will also be on staff as a sophomore assistant and teach math; Hugh Sporer is a technology teacher who will guide the freshmen and Dean Griffin, a social worker, will be an assistant along with Jim Fischer.

"It really helps me out as a football coach and athletic director to have on staff people as coaches. Good teachers make for good coaches," he said.

The Rams are entering their final season in the Northwest Suburban Conference before a move to the Fox Valley Conference in 1997-98. Dillon reports some 130 players participated in a summer camp, with 50 freshmen. The Rams also participated in 7-on-7 passing leagues and lifted weights.

"The first three days are important for the lower level kids. The varsity had a good summer camp with the seniors stepping forward as leaders," Dillon said.

Grayslake was 3-6 last year.

Lake County Chiefs set for quality second season

Second-year Lake County Chiefs are looking forward to make a statement that they will be a factor in the Chicagoland Football League this fall.

The first chapter of the statement takes place Aug. 11 when the Chiefs host the Chicago Cavaliers in a 1 p.m. semi-pro football clash at North Chicago High.

"People like the kind of football we play. We will not disappoint the fans," Al Clark, head coach, said.

The Chiefs' best strength leading up to the opener is organization, Clark said. "This is the first time I have had an organization with a staff and that makes a difference. We moved our Sunday practices back to 2 p.m. so people can go to church and we have had about an 80 percent turnout at practices," Clark said.

The Chiefs won their pre-season game 32-16 against the Chicago Falcons.

Clark concentrates on defense while Gary Kasper and John Patterson handle the offense. James McMillan could get the starting not at QB while Reggie Matthews and Robert Dixon get the call in the backfield.

"We may be thin in the line, but we have guys who can go both ways, offense and defense, Dennis Lane and John Burns," Clark said.

The defense is led by captain Steve Garner of Waukegan. Angel Torrez and Burns, of Gurnee, anchor the linebacker group.

"We have been working on the kicking game extensively for the last two weeks," Clark said.

Field goal kicker Tom Vergis is in Greece and backups Torrez and Daveyon Dearmon of Waukegan could see playing time.

Clark has high hopes for an undefeated season.

Fans attending the opening game will have a chance to buy season tickets for home and away games for $20. Tickets are $6 for adults, $3 for seniors and $2 for children under 12 and are available at the gate. NCCHS is located at the northeast corner of Lewis and Argonne in North Chicago.

There will be many prize give-aways including: a 19-inch color TV; four one-day passes to Six Flags Great America; four tickets to Cinema Movie Theater.

For more information, call the Chiefs at 336-3790.

Lake Villa All-Stars gain second, respect at tourney

Lake Villa Mustang state champion coach Tom Myers knew he had a special group of 10-year-old baseball players last year.

But what would he do for an encore for the group of 11-year olds? With the team formed around the start of July, the season has proved to be quick and successful. The latest second-place tourney finish in Palatine came against traveling squads which had been together for months, if not years.

"We did much better than expected. I am so proud of the kids because they listened and worked hard," Myers said.

Myers' son, Ryan and Sean Walker were the aces of the staff. "Our game is based on them controlling the game. They were able to stay focused and go deep in the counts," coach Myers said.

The Lake Villa All-Stars gained second overall at Palatine after beating the likes of Palatine Youth, Northbrook, Elk Grove Village and Waukegan. The Palatine Storm used its experience in late-inning pressure to top Lake Villa All-Stars 5-1 in the title game. Elk Grove fell to Lake Villa 12-4, Palatine Youth 7-1.

Myers and Walker combined on a 1-hitter against Palatine Youth.

Timely hitting was provided by Greg Kruse and Matt Polak, among others. "I told the kids all will have a chance to be a hero at one point in the game," Myers said.

Defensively, a highlight in the 14-6 win over Waukegan was a gem of a catch by Brian Blanas in right field. "He could only go back a couple of steps, but he leaped back and raised his glove up. He fell down and hung onto the ball," Myers described.

Also contributing were: Scott Coles, Matt Leukemeyer and catcher Scott Wold. Polleck, Brett Bairstow and Matt Huotari.

Also on the squad for other tourneys were: David Rogowski, Brad Ptasinski, Ryan Woosley and Mike Lynn. The team began to find success as it was second at the Mid-Summer Classic tourney in Racine, Wis. The team was third at a Fort Sheridan tourney.

The championship game at Palatine was a battle to the end. A Lake Villa runner was thrown out at home for a game-tying run. Palatine would take advantage of a Lake Villa error as it made the most of 6 hits.

"They played flawless baseball. We hit some rockets, but right at them," Myers said.

Assisting Myers in this short season were: Tom Kruse, Rich Coles and Kevin Walker and Brad Huotari.

Hainesville youth ready to make his mark in dirt

The quiet of a Tuesday afternoon in Hainesville was interrupted with a vroom, vroom, vroom.

Joe Lazzaretto was enjoying a workout on his pride and joy - motorcycle No. 51. The 50 cc motorcycle, which can approach speeds of 30 MPH, and the 4-year-old racer advanced to the national competition in Tennessee this week.

"I used to race years ago," Joe's dad, Tony, said.

Joe may prefer to let most of the talking be done by No. 51, but he did say why he likes the sport. "I like the jumping," he said.

Lazzaretto belongs to the American Motorcycle Assn. and competes in races in Lake Geneva.

"It is unbelievably competitive. It is also a family atmosphere where children go and become friends," Tony said.

The sport is not a cheap one. Lazzaretto, a carpenter, said he spent $20,000 in the past year to keep his son in racing. The racers wear a lot of gear, from chest protectors to helmets. Joe had his helmet custom designed. Joe's cousin, Chris also has raced. His dad likes his son's opportunities past the nationals this year at singer Loretta Lynn's ranch in Laverly, Tenn. "He is going to be a junior rider next year, too," Tony said.

Joe is sponsored by Torque Center in New Berlin, Wis. which made his helmet just so.

Vikings learn football lesson 101 in humility

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

This is why these games are called pre-season contests.

The Lake County Vikings, a short-handed group, suffered a 52-3 loss to the Chicago Panthers Saturday night at home. The defeat gives the defending Midwest Football League champs a 2-1 pre-season record and perhaps some more focus for the season opener Aug. 10 at Indiana Wolverines.

The Vikings were without 10 starters and head coach Russ Kraly, who was away on business. Kraly's absence was known to the team before the game, but many of the players' no-shows were not. "A couple said they would not be able to make it," John Tesch, acting head coach, said.

The Vikings were actually still a factor at halftime, trailing just 13-3. A 30-yard field goal by Gary Weir, a Warren Township High School graduate, accounted for all the home teams' scoring.

Then there was the talent of the Panthers to contend with. They scored almost every way possible - from long TD passes to short runs by huge running backs to a disputed punt return. The first score, a 75-yard TD bomb on a quick play, let the Vikings know what kind of a night they would be having.

"You did not have much time to throw the ball. You need three seconds, and you only had two," coach Tesch said.

"I had to roll out and sprint, that was all I could do," QB Adam Tesch said. Tesch had his passing numbers cut in half from a scrimmage the week before to 123 yards.

The numbers game meant players playing in different positions, many going on both offense and defense. Luke Tesch played defense while the kicker Weir played linebacker.

"The loss should bring us tighter as a team. Some guys do not show up for practice but expect to play in the game," Luke Tesch said.

Luke suffered a shoulder injury in the second half. He said he enjoyed his defensive role.

"I love defense - you can go out there and hit," he said.

Coach Tesch said he felt good about the first half effort. Weir's field goal cut the lead to 6-3 with 4:37 left in the first quarter. It followed a series of Panther penalties and a diving catch by Vikes receiver Frank Ruiz.

After a 13-3 Panthers lead, the Vikes apparently caught a break on a fumbled punt midway through the second period.

Next week the Vikes, who also were pummeled in the final pre-season game last year, begin for real.

Speedway produces two new winners

Dave Hanna of Grayslake, ended a five-year drought by becoming the eighth different Budweiser Racing Series 25-lap sprint car feature winner of the season, highlighting Winker Engineering of Kenosha Night at The New Wilmet Speedway's in Wilmet, Wisconsin on Aug. 3.

Division leading Dennis Spitz of Kenosha captured his third 20-lap modified main. Pointleader Scott Sippel of Elkhart Lake chalked up his fourth 15-lap, J and L Oil Mini-Sprint Series main. Kansasville's Dean Sadowski scored his second 15-lap IMCA modified feature win.

"We've been working hard to get this new car sorted out and I think we finally did it," said Hanna. "I wanted to stick up top because that's where my line was, but the lapped traffic made it a little tricky. My car owner, Jim Miller, and my crew did a super job."

Dave Bliss jumped into the spring main lead. Hanna put his Body Craft/Frank's Lounge/North Shore Auto Shaver engine powered 1996 Stealth into the lead using the outside of turn two on lap five. A lone caution flew on lap seven, but Hanna was able to slice through lapped traffic enroute to the win. Dave Moulis caught Mike Frost for second. Jim Moulis was fourth. John Tierney fifth.

J. Moulis finish, coupled with Joe Kristan's placing ninth, saw the elder Moulis retake the sprint point lead by 11.

"I don't know why Steve did it, because he definitely had the fastest car, but I'll take the win," said Sippel, referring to Steve Reidel Jr.'s crossing the finish line first, but being penalized two positions for jumping a restart.

Kai McNulty took the early lead in the mini-sprint main. Sippel put his G & C Trucking/Sippel Racin'/Muskego Animal Hospital 1995 Challenger into the lead on lap two. Cautions on laps four and 10 kept the field tight, with Reidel taking top spot following the last restart which was when he was detected passing prior to reaching the backstretch cone.

Sippel was followed in the revised finish by Ryan Mathews. Reidel was dropped to third. Tony Deieso was fourth. McNulty fifth.

"I have to thank my son, Eric, because if it wasn't for him, I wouldn't have made it back out this week," said Sadowski, revealing his car was severely damaged in a feature crash one week earlier. "Jimmy Joe Urbanik) was tough to get around, but I was able to find just enough room."

Urbanik kept the IMCA modified main lead until Sadowski squeezed his Dodge-powered D and L Chassis/Al's Auto Savage machine in front going into turn one. Sadowski went on to the victory trailed by Rob Olson in second. Ed Devall caught B.G. Wood for third. Urbanik faded to fifth.

"I'm so sore, I can't even get out of the car," said Spitz, who was interviewed in Victory lane from inside his Pontiac-powered Winker Engineering/NAPA Auto Parts of Waukegan/Fatman's Inn mount. "My horse threw me yesterday, and I'm still awfully sore. The car ran super on the top and I'm glad it did, because I don't know if I could have made it otherwise."

Tommy Sexton snapped an axle, shooting in front of Brian Van Scoy on the initial green flag of the modified main, with Sexton barrel rolling down the front straightway collecting Tom Larson. Neither was seriously injured, but Sexton and Larson were both done for the night.

Van Scoy was able to restart, taking the initial lead. Spitz, who ended up starting outside of row one, stayed high as the two battled wheel to wheel much of the first half of the race. Spitz took command on lap six and rim road to victory. Glen Hepfner came on strong to take second. Van Scoy clipped Craig Lager at the checkered to keep third. Larry Vandervere was fifth.

Jimmy Walkanoff flipped at the start of the sprint "B" main last chance. Sprint heat race flips saw Jack Dicklin and Todd Daun get upside down in separate incidents. None were injured, nor were they able to return to action.

A total of 91 open wheel cars including 34 sprints were on hand. On Saturday, Aug. 10 will be Wisconsin Fans for Auto Racing Night featuring sprints, IMCA modifieds, mini-sprints and mini-modifieds. Racetime is 7 p.m. For information, phone racelines (414) 862-2446 or 838-RACE or track office at 395-0500.

Avon softball stars beat adversity, win Cary crown

Some modern technology here and some sheer determination here added up to a championship for the Avon Township Girls Softball traveling squad.

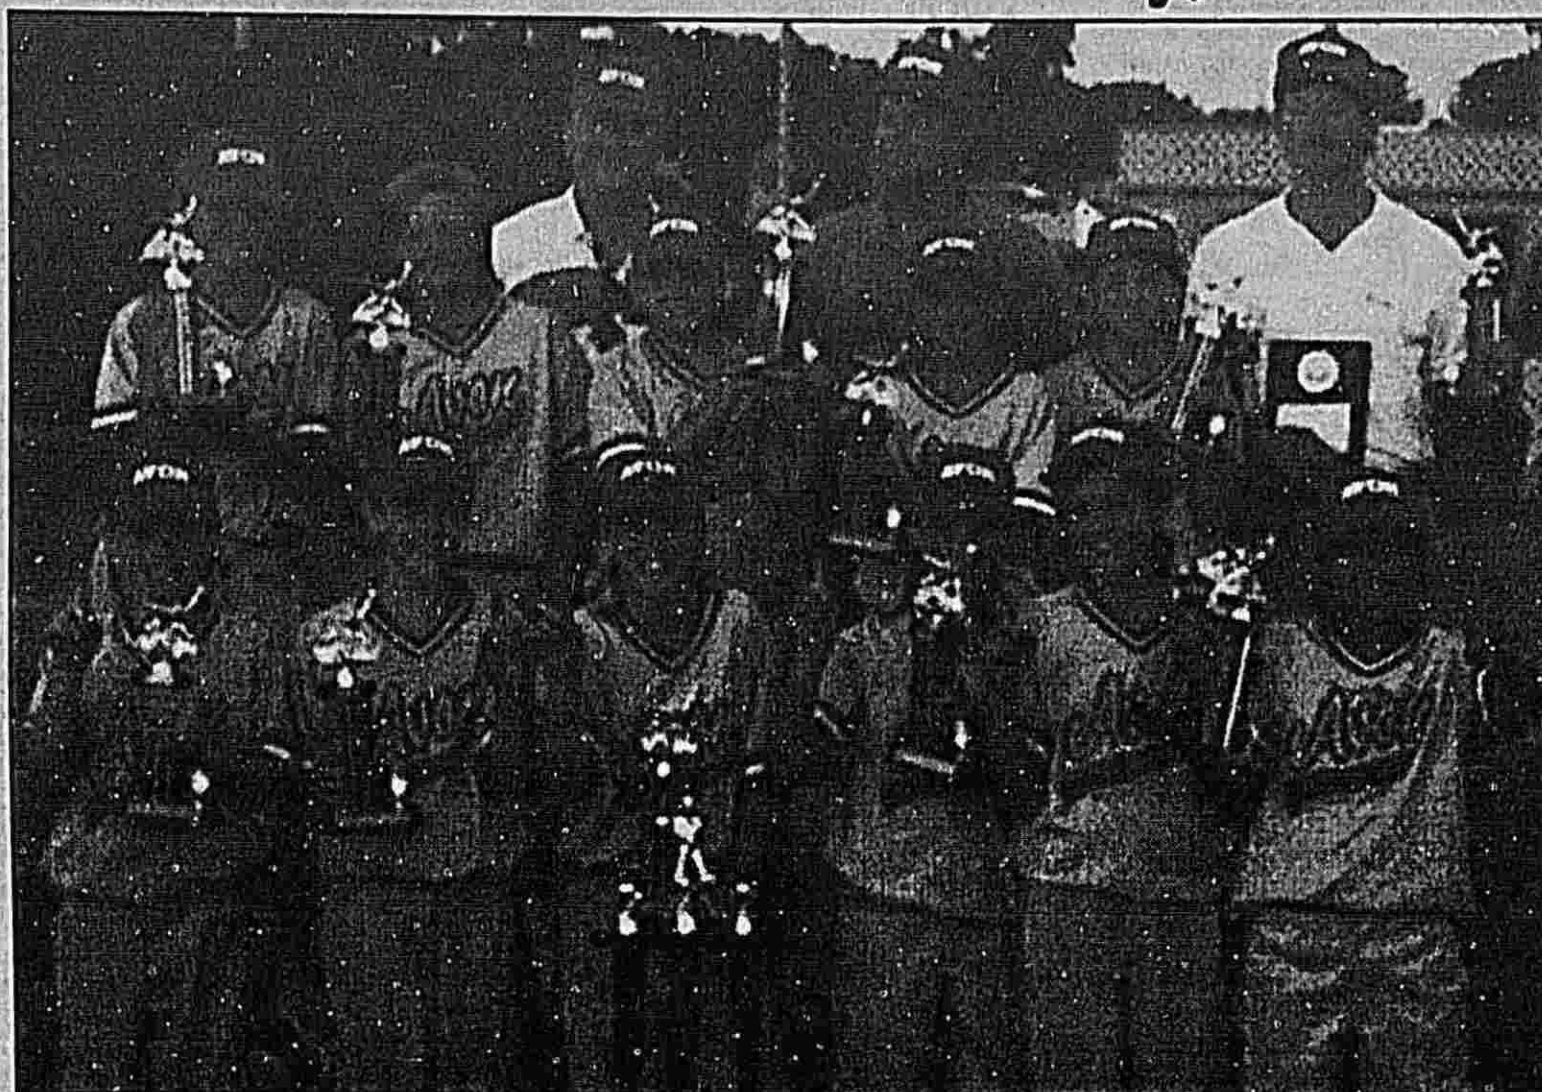

It was pretty impossible fighting through the losers bracket. The championship game against Johnsburg, they were a little afraid of them, but by the second game they felt they had a good chance," Henry Grasmick, Avon coach said.

Avon beat Johnsburg twice in the championship series, 7-4 and 5-3 in extra inning battles. The team was only together for a few weeks and represented the best of Avon Twp. softball. The 12-member squad, picked by coaches' recommendations, included: Nikki Caruccio, Sarah Hastings, Amy May, Kristin Piasecki, Suzanne Chavez, Marissa Grasmick, Danielle Herman, Stacie Hovik, Megan Mitchell, Cassandra Ralke, Elizabeth Sims and Sheena Walleck.

The season started with a fourth-place finish at a Woodstock tourney. The Avon and Johnsburg rivalry is one of the top in youth softball. The teams have met four times in the last two years in post-season play with Avon winning just once.

"Our defense was great and as the games went on, we got used to hitting faster pitchers," Grasmick said.

In the opening game of the

The Avon Twp. Girls Traveling Squad defeat Johnsburg twice in the tournament finals to win the championship.

double elimination tournament, Avon lost a heartbreaker to Woodstock 6-5, putting them in the losers' bracket. Battling through that tough side, Avon won six straight games with wins 18-4 over Jacobsen Park, Fox River Grove 11-6, Barrington 12-5, Algonquin 9-2, Woodstock 7-4 and Wauconda 16-7.

The first title game began late July 28. With the score tied 0-0 in the bottom of the seventh inning, a thunderstorm moved into Cary along with a game-clearing lightning show. Play resumed the next day.

Avon scored 4 runs in the top of the third inning on clutch hitting by Chavez and May. Avon scored twice in the top of the fourth and once in the fifth for a 7-run lead going into the bottom of the fifth.

With Piasecki pitching like a machine Johnsburg was held scoreless until the bottom of the fifth when it scored 3 runs. A long home run by Johnsburg's Amy Morrison brought Johnsburg to within 7-4. The bases were then loaded with two outs. With the tying run on first base and a full-count on the batter, the field umpire called strike three for the third out.

Following a 30-minute break, the two teams battled in the winner-take-all game.

Avon took a 1-0 lead after two innings and 2-0 after five. Piasecki continued her steady pitching for five innings. Morrison's one-out double scored 2 runs for a tie game. Morrison stole third and was the potential winning run, still with only one out. Piasecki gained a clutch strikeout for the second out but walked the next two batters, loading the bases. Sims came through with the defensive gem, flipping to Chavez covering second for a force out. Going into extra innings in international softball rules puts a runner on second base. Avon failed to score in its half of the seventh, as did Johnsburg, stranding runners at first and second.

Piasecki scored from third on a deep sacrifice fly by Ralke for a 3-2 lead, but Johnsburg scored in its eighth.

Sims scored Chavez in the ninth and then scored on a single by May in the ninth.

With the bases loaded, Hovik hit a sinking line shot to left field causing all runners to take off. The left fielder made a strong running catch just inches off the grass for the second out, Grasmick described. The left fielder got tagged up in the grass and runners were able to return to their bases. May and the third baseman got tangled up with the Johnsburg third baseman. May cut her knee, and had to be taken to the hospital. Her parents were contacted via cellular phone - by May.

Avon showed its team determination in the ninth inning, playing with nine players instead of the usual 10.

Piasecki faced a bases loaded situation with 2 outs. She had 14 innings of experience this long day and over 300 pitches. Grasmick, the second baseman, saved the day on the final out, she missed a tag of a runner but threw to first for the third and final out.

The Johnsburg team joined Avon and showed sportsmanship in naming May as the Cary tournament MVP. May was released from the hospital after 26 stitches.

"Every one of the girls on this team of 12 made a significant contribution somewhere during their ride to the top. Overcoming tremendous odds of playing through the losers' bracket and then beating a Johnsburg team twice, they showed how much heart these 12 and 11-year-olds have. They never gave up and in some of the games when they were behind, they continued to think they could win, and in fact, did under many pressure situations," coach Grasmick said.

Assisting Grasmick in the 11-3 tourney season were Don Houik, Ken Recken and Jim Hastings.

Prep athletes are heart, soul of competition

Yes, friends the summer is almost over. The "dog days" of August are rapidly approaching. With the "dog days," comes two-a-day football practices, soccer players practicing corner kicks till the sun sets or their legs fall off, which ever comes first and lets not forget those long runs for the cross country team. Days filled with wind sprints and nights filled with all to little sleep for the prep athlete.

All of these sure signs of the fall prep sports season.

This time of the year has to be right up there with Christmas, maybe even my birthday. There is nothing like going out to a Friday night football game and watching these athletes leave it all out on the field, and believe me they will.

You see, that is the great part about high school sports, it's kids playing for nothing but the pride of their respective school, or the pat on the back from Mom or Dad. It's not about the money or fame, it's about senior night and homecoming. Prep athletes don't play hard because their contract is up after the season, they play hard to make it to the conference title, or if the team is good enough, the state playoffs.

I guess the point that I am trying to make is that the prep athlete never seems to get the credit that they so richly deserve. It's often a foregone conclusion that the star tailback or the top line backer in the area is going to pass Algebra or English, but take it from me there are a lot of those late night study sessions that go with those two-a-day workouts and all of those corner kicks.

I don't mean to narrow this down to just these two sports. Any athlete from the cross-country runner to the tennis player, all of these athletes deserve a lot of credit for having the heart to stick it out thought the tough times, when it would be easier to quit then run one more lap around the track or take one more snap in practice, but they don't!

So before I get off the soap box for this week, let's just remember one thing, we were all young once, too, so if the opportunity presents itself this season, head out to a football game, or take in a soccer match. Maybe even get a hot dog from the concession stand at the half. If you do I can assure you of one thing, it will be better than "Must see T.V."

Ditka leads bowling effort to strike out leukemia

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Alan Brim's first eight and one-half years of his life were filled with a love of the sport known as America's pastime.

"He loved baseball," his uncle, Gerald Brim said.

Alan Brim died from leukemia at age 10 in 1978. The fight for the cure for the second leading killer of young people continues Aug. 10 in Vernon Hills.

Former Chicago Bears coach Mike Ditka is the honorary chairman of the Joe Marconi "Strikes against Leukemia" bowling fund-raiser at Hawthorn Lanes. The registration begins at noon, with bowling at 1 p.m.

The event, co-sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers, is in its third year. Mike North, of WSCR radio, will be the emcee. America West Airlines, Windy City Bowling News and Joe Rizza Ford are also sponsors.

"We had about 130 bowlers last year with 20 top bowlers and celebrities. The people at the Leukemia Fund put a lot of work into it," Bill Spigner, general manager of Hawthorn Lanes said.

Marconi was on the 1963 championship Chicago Bears along with teammate and friend Ditka. He died from leukemia in 1992. The fund-raiser was organized by his family in his memory. Ditka's chaired last year's event which raised more than $27,000.

Participants may bowl with 20 professional bowlers and former Chicago Bears Dennis McKinnon, Maury Buford, Brent Novoselsky, Brian Glasgow, Jack Johnson and Robin Earl.

Entry fees are $50 per person or a pledge of $.25 per pin. General admission is $3 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

"The focus of our organization is to raise money and a lot of research to find a cure. We have bone marrow drives, give grants, and counseling," Brim, executive vice president of Leukemia Research Foundation, said.

The foundation, in its 50th year, is made up of more than 1,000 volunteers, forming 14 local chapters who have joined together in Leukemia research.

"The bowling event keeps getting bigger every year. Spigner has been really supportive," Brim, of Mundelein, said. "Having someone like Ditka support us is extremely important because it helps get us out in the public eye and generates more funds."

Eighty-one cents of every dollar raised goes directly to expenses related to care and treatment of Leukemia. To register or for more information, call 982-1480.

Daughter defends father who died in Chain accident

Tired of hearing negative comments about the victims of a boating disaster, the daughter of the boat operator who died, is speaking out in defense of her kin.

While admitting Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson has called and advised her that blood test results on her dad Arnold "Dick" Carlson showed a blood-alcohol content of .175 as well as traces of cocaine, Colleen Russo said this doesn't mean her dad was "a bad person."

"It's unbelievable what they're saying," she explained. Carlson, his son Chris, 28, and a female passenger were killed July 11 when the boat Carlson was driving was hit by another vessel on Nippersink Lake.

"It doesn't change how I feel about him," said Russo, who is a new mother.

Crash survivor Bob Heaney said he never would have allowed his longtime friend Carlson to operate a boat if he appeared to be impaired. "He acted sober when he picked me up, and he wasn't drinking when he was with me," said Heaney.

Russo agrees her dad, an avid boater, would have gladly given up

Expo '96 speaker to focus on contributions of seniors

"Upon This Rock: the Senior Connection" will be the topic when O'Merial Butchee delivers the keynote speech at Senior Expo '96. The event is Tuesday, Aug. 13, at College of Lake County.

Senior Expo 96 will feature booths and literature representing 30 exhibitors including perennial Expo favorite Lance Brown's "Somewhat Fractured History of the World Show," and musical entertainment "Aloha: An Island Adventure."

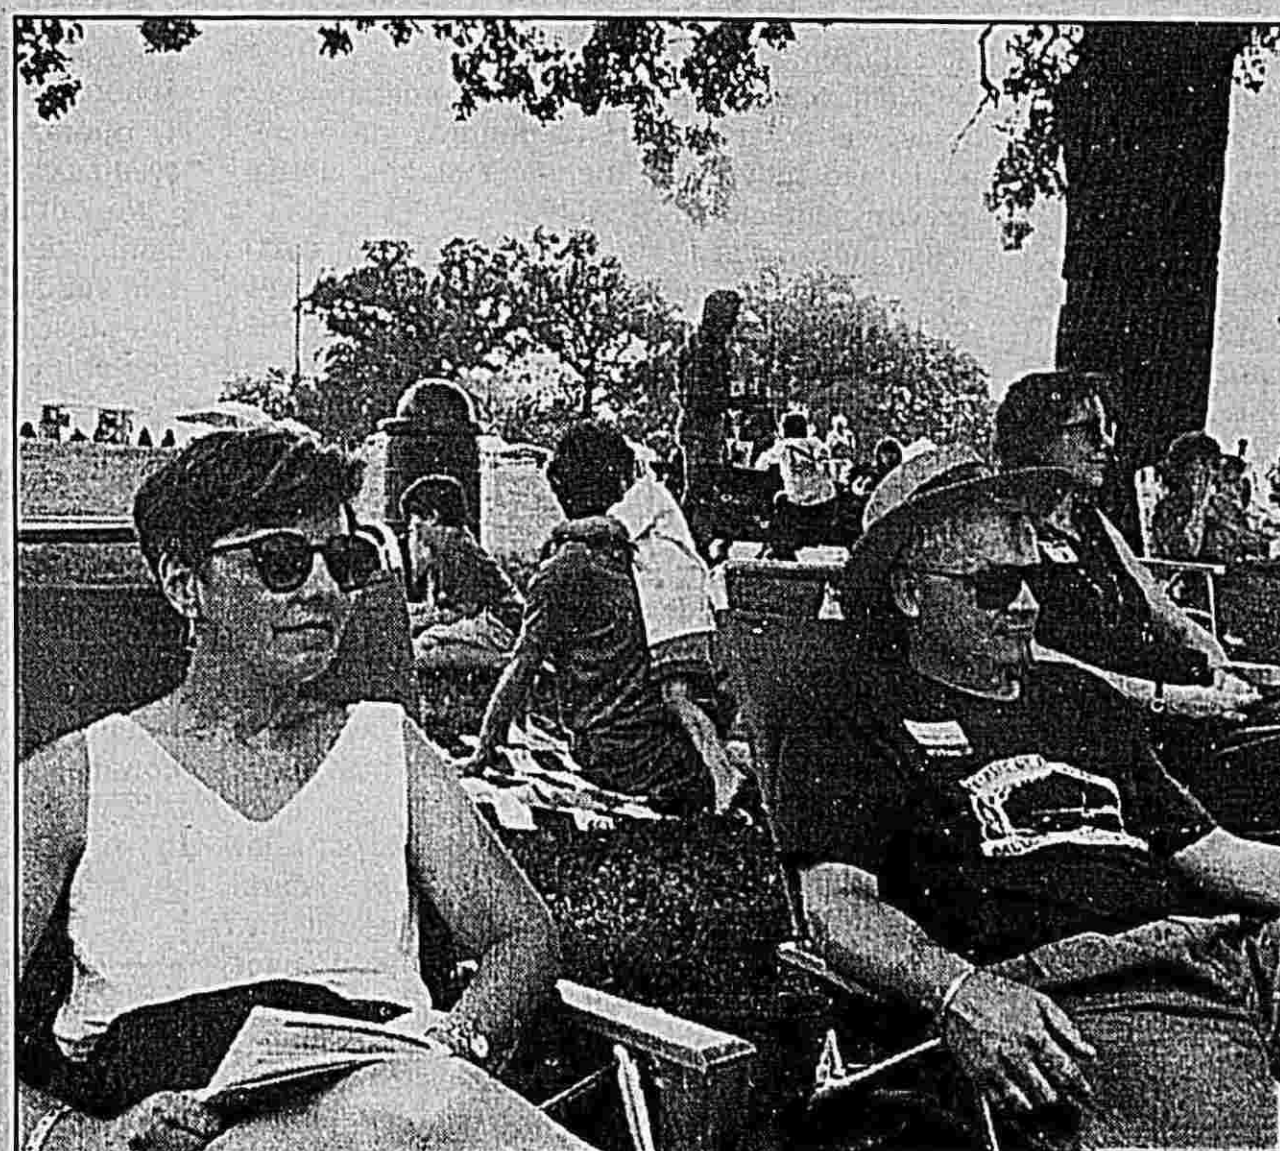

Chairperson Diana Vickery is pleased with the programs for this year.

"It is designed to be a day of fun which gives seniors inspiration, education and a chance to forge friendships," said Vickery. "It has become a tradition for the Lake County Council for Seniors over the past several years."

Butchee will focus her energy, superb storytelling and compelling delivery to motivate audience members. One of her peers, Les Brown, says her performance is "exceptional, enter-See EXPO page B24

Fox Lake auto center shut down

TINA SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Secretary of State officials and Fox Lake Police have joined forces to investigate an alleged scam at an auto and marine business.

Fox Lake Auto & Marine Center at 8 S. Route 12 is no longer in service. It was forced to close down after village officials received a series of public complaints, said Lt. Edward Gerretsen.

On July 22, police assisted in suspending the business license of Scott Nelson. The owner of the property, Gary Rabine Sr., said a week before the closure he presented Nelson with a five day notice to leave the premises.

"We received a number of complaints and when we investigated further, we found he gave a fictitious name and address on the license application," said Fox Lake attorney Howard Teegan.

The lawyer explained after Nelson didn't show up to a hearing on the matter held July 29 at the village hall, officials simply revoked his license.

Rabine said when unhappy customers came forward, he didn't want Nelson leasing the property any longer. "It doesn't happen very often, but this time too many people got stung, got lied to," said Rabine.

Officials say Nelson has not been charged, as an investigation is pending.—by TINA L. SWIECH

New commuting depends on buses

Monday morning, Aug. 19, history will be made when a commuter train leaves Antioch for a southward trek toward Chicago with stops at Lake Villa, Round Lake Beach, Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills, Prairie View, Buffalo Grove and other points, the first new commuter rail start in the Chicago area in 70 years.

Ironically, the success of the new line rests on an innovative and intricate linkage with the Pace bus system.

The rail-bus link grew out of the conviction of transit officials that 1990s commuter needs involve suburb to suburb travel as much, or more, than transportation downtown. Commuters may live in Lake County, but they have jobs in Schaumburg and Hanover Park, for example, that are served by Metra's Milwaukee District West service.

Taking a train south to a transfer point at River Grove to ultimately go to a western suburb may sound like a bit of a stretch and less than convenient, but the program will work, we're assured, particularly with Pace buses filling the void. We're mindful of a friend residing in northern New Jersey whose daily journey to an office in mid-town Manhattan involved a bus trip, a ferry boat ride and then a subway dash. That's real commuting. Folks who can board the Fox Lake Metra line at Grayslake or Libertyville for direct service to the city are downright spoiled.

Shuttle buses also are an important part of the commuter transportation equation and will be moreso as time goes on. Arranging the shuttles will be the job of regional transportation management agencies and private industry.

In the future, there will be service provided by the new North Central Service, as commuting on tracks leased from Wisconsin Central Railroad will be known, to O'Hare Airport. The O'Hare linkage is one of the more intriguing facets of futuristic transportation thinking.

Sure to become a hot topic of cocktail parties and deck gatherings in our area is how to get "from here to there" using the new Metra commuter rail and Pace bus service. When all this fails, there's always a fall-back to the family auto. If only there wasn't the Deerfield toll plaza bottleneck!

Local gasoline tax no gridlock answer

Because of his lameduck status and election year politics, Lake County Board Chairman Robert Depke's renewed call for a four-cent local gasoline tax falls on deaf ears. And well it should.

Highways are becoming increasingly crowded, especially during the morning drive and evening return, but improvements that will relieve gridlock are needed on roads that are the responsibility of the state, not the county. Continued growth insures greater revenues than ever for county highway needs so the cry for a local gasoline tax has a hollow ring.

The county's five year, $86.6 million road program is ambitious. On the drawing boards are resurfacing 74 miles of road, 15 major intersection improvements, four bridge improvements, five bike path improvements and five miles of road widenings. About 25 miles of road is scheduled for rehabilitation.

The chairman described revenue sources as "maintaining the status quo." Martin G. Buehler, director of the Lake County Div. of Transportation, said the five-year program keeps pace with the county's 2005 Transportation Plan. Why add to the taxation burden on citizens when current funding methods are doing the job?

The answer to this question is rooted in the fact the under the current administration, the Div. of Transportation has become a hand maiden of the go go growth syndrom. Imposition of a county gasoline tax, in effect, is asking current residents to finance future growth. Taxpayers can see through that transparency.

A growing number of citizens frown on giving the Div. of Transportation more money after its support of the controversial Yorkhouse Rd. extension and construction of such questionable projects as the elaborate stormwater detention system in Grant Township for the modernized intersection of Wilson and Rollins Rds. that hastens pollution of an adjacent recreational lake.

Imposition of a county gasoline tax will require Illinois General Assembly enabling legislation. Instead of trying to pressure local state lawmakers into paying the way for a gasoline tax, county officials ought to be working with our Springfield delegation to push through state highway improvements, particularly to east-west thoroughfares that will have a positive impact on gridlock.

Center funds imperil cocaine moms' future

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

One of the most remarkable social service projects in the nation, a Lake County innovation, is headed for a rocky road because of the way the federal government is changing welfare funding.

After September, fed funds will dry up for the Women and Children's Center operated by the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASSA).

The program was established nearly three years ago as a demonstration project to aid addicted Lake County mothers in their recovery, provide for their children, get them off welfare and get them employed.

Operating out of an old church in North Chicago, the Women and Children's Center has achieved national recognition with a 90 percent success rate for the original 25 enrollees who have 30 children.

"We have demonstrated that the program works. Now we're facing serious funding problems," exclaimed Judy Fried, the energetic and visionary executive director of NICASSA.

Big bucks are at stake. Fried estimates the cost to society of a cocaine baby and two years of care at $500,000. Realization of the figure alone, NICASSA supporters reason, is enough to erase the politics of welfare and partisan hangups.

"When one of our mothers delivers a drug-free baby, we've saved society a lot of money," avers Fried.

Women and Children's Center accepts women deeply mired in the cycle of drugs, poverty, child abuse and neglect. The center's innovative outpatient approach has helped "graduates" become self-sufficient, productive members of society.

"Our goal is to treat addiction and intervene in the cycle of poverty," pointed out Fried, who said personal safety of enrollees is the agency's biggest problem. The typical enrollee responds almost immediately to the prospects of getting an education, typically a general equivalency diploma (GED) and a job.

The program's first graduate is Sharon E., 42, mother of three, a drug addict for 20 years and a public aid recipient since birth. Today she has a long-term temporary assignment as a secretary at Abbott Laboratories, secured through Manpower Temporary Services. Sharon has enrolled in evening classes at College of Lake County.

Work of the center will continue after the conclusion of the Sept. 30 demonstration period. Fried said funds are available for another 12 months. After that the future of the Women and Children's Center is in doubt.

Individual responsibility lacking in angry era

TOM DEMPSEY

Recently, my kids and I were in a conversation, and somehow we stumbled onto the topic of who is running for President, and how it seems that the best and brightest people we have in our country are not the least bit tempted to run for high office. Naturally, they asked why.

They readily accepted my answer (one of the few times in recent memory) that, for some reason, many politicians and media people make it their mission to destroy leaders with whom they disagree, and that people who aspire to be our leaders often pay a high personal price regardless of their integrity or competence. They were satisfied with my answer, but I was not.

With more thought, it occurred to me that, while the politics of gossip and innuendo prevail as an ugly national trend, it would be absurd to think that this is caused by larger forces that none of us control. The fact is, we are all individually responsible for how we behave in what seems to be the angriest period in our history.

If you're not convinced, take the time to observe how we relate to some leaders right here in our own community.

If you have attended school board meetings recently, you have had the opportunity to observe how negativism and mistrust are being accepted

-PARTY LINES- Non-runners dominate; Dems face Thompson void

Party Lines, the Lake Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Must be the dog days of summer. Non-runners are making more news these days than the candidates.

North Chicago Mayor Bobby Thompson announced his retirement next spring after three terms. Thompson's departure will leave a void in both North Chicago and Lake County Democratic politics that won't be easy to fill.

Ratfelders

Gurnee Trustee Mark Ratfelders' decision to bow out of contention for a Lake County Board seat shows how time-consuming and difficult it is to campaign these days for the County Board.

Al Westerman, Republican nominee for the seat sought by Ratfelders' campaign full-time for four months preceding his primary victory. Considering family needs, job commitment and village responsibilities, Ratfelders realized he couldn't match Westerman.

Westerman can coast now. The Democrats didn't offer a candidate in the Warren Township district.

Searching—Appellate Justice Lawrence D. Inglis of Gurnee has been named to head a search for member of the Lake County Bar Assn. for special recognition for high standards of ethical conduct and forensic competence, and exemplary service to the legal profession.

He was appointed by Judge Jane D. Waller, bar president.

Three-peat— "Always room for one more," must be the motto of County Board Rep. Bob Neal (R-Wadsworth) when it comes to fund raising activity. Neal, the Republican nominee for county recorder of deeds, has added a shindig Oct. 8 at Wauconda. He had a reception Thursday in Waukegan and the 5th annual Neal Golf Outing Friday at Mundelein. The added attraction is scheduled at Mers Restaurant.

Life members— Two Lake County lawyers have been approved as Life Fellows of the Illinois Bar Foundation, Stephen W. Walter, Grayslake, and Leo J. Sullivan III, Waukegan.

Fairway ads— For a fee, county businesses are being invited to advertise on Lake County Forest Preserve golf courses. No billboards, please. The signs are tee markers for hole number, yardage, par, lay-out and special nature and habitat information. A steal at $1,200 for three years, according to Kim Kelly, marketing coordinator.

Keeping no secrets— Mary Ellen Vanderventer's campaign has taken a new approach in campaign financial disclosures instead of waiting for the media to research the disclosure forms, the campaign has included the information in its latest press release. As of July 15, the campaign has raised $20,674.50. "Hundreds of people have sent $5, $10 and $15 to show their support of my campaign," said Vanderventer.

Birthday salute— Democrats around the nation are linking together in a live telecast to celebrate the President's 50th birthday. Democratic organizers in Wisconsin have issued invitations to Lake County media representatives to join parties at Turner Hall in Milwaukee and Concourse Hotel in Madison for the event, Aug. 19. The Clinton-Hollywood connection will be showing as Whoopi Goldberg hosts the event from Radio City Music Hall.

Each individual has stake in curbing violence, terror

CONSTANCE L. COLSON

Recently, TWA Flight 800 went down in the Atlantic Ocean with 230 innocent victims aboard. The jury is still out, but there are strong indications that terrorism was involved.

During the Olympics we awoke to the news of a terrorist bombing in Centennial Park in Atlanta, Ga, killing two and injuring scores more, all innocent bystanders.

The general public expresses outrage, disbelief, and I ask, "Why?" Not, why did it happen, but why are we surprised? We close our eyes to the changes that have been eroding the moral fiber of our country over the past couple of decades, and then wonder "How could this happen?" We saw it in Oklahoma City with a devastation that was akin to war, and we blame a couple of "crazies", but do we ask, "What have I done to contribute to this?" or, "How can we turn this around?" I think that it's time for us to face responsibility for what we have allowed to happen.

You say that you didn't provide the materials, build the pipe bombs? Maybe not literally, but I say that you did provide the materials. You provided the materials when you failed to fight the violence that permeates our society: Are you monitoring the music that your children bring home, music that advocates violence against parents and authority? Is it your money that is being spent at the theaters by yourself and your children, money that is supporting movies that glorify killing, sexual abuse, or crimes against society?

This is not entertainment, people, and we are the reason that there is a constant stream of them. Filmmakers fulfill the desires of their audiences, and then we wonder where the unstable get their ideas. What video games are your six year olds playing? Do you even know? I'm not speaking of the odd little creatures that gobble up other odd little creatures. Check out the ones where very human looking figures are literally chopping up their opponents. The manufacturers of these games have taken a product that was originally a fun diversion to lows that are practically a primer in how to deal with adversity in the worst way possible.

Who is putting the guns into the hands of children who then shoot other children? They did not go the sporting goods store to buy them.

While we are providing the stimulus to act irrationally, and irresponsibly, are we also providing the counter balance? I don't think so.

In our efforts to be fair to everyone, we have allowed prayer or morality to be legislated out of schools. We bow to the minority who do not want religious symbols displayed on any public property. Are these things done by majority vote? No, and we just sit back and let it happen. Closer to home though, are you teaching your children about the sanctity of life, the intrinsic worth of every human being? Do you attend the church of your choice together, just drop them at Sunday School while you stay home reading the newspaper; or perhaps, do nothing and wait until they are adults so they can choose for themselves? What are the guiding principles that will see them through until they reach that point; and then, why should they seek something to which they have never been exposed?

In this day and age, when the country is no longer united in a sense of purpose for the common good, where the very suggestion of this is seen as naive and old-fashioned, we have only ourselves to blame when the unspeakable happens. There is a correlation between a society that has to spend so much money and effort to protect itself from itself, and the agenda that we seem to be following. Our children are learning a sense of entitlement, I should have what I want, when I want, whether I have worked for it or not. They see their adult role models expressing hatred and intolerance toward people of other races, religions, or persuasions. Anger and rudeness are readily expressed and common respect has gone by the wayside.

We are harvesting what we have sown, the ultimate acts of anger directed not at an individual with whom we have a quarrel, but at the society that has nurtured this behavior. Why are we surprised?

Just as violence begets violence, so does love beget love. It's so simple people, and it starts at your house.

classroom. Civics lessons are still based on the ideas most people were brought up with, and here are just a few:

- Be a critical thinker, not a critical person;
- Disagree without being destructive;
- Respect and honor differences of opinion;
- Spend as much energy on your responsibilities as you do on your rights;

Middle age wisdom tells me these are things that are a lot easier to believe than they are to live every day. But our kids are watching and learning from us. Yours are probably a lot like mine. They pay more attention to what we do than what we say.

Freak electrocution kills two

ANTIOCH—A woman and her neighbor from unincorporated Antioch Township near Lake Marie were killed by a live wire this week.

According to early reports, the woman grabbed a dog chain, which was connected to a dog run, which was connected to a live wire from her home. The barefoot woman was shocked immediately, and her son sought help. A neighbor quickly responded but was shocked as well when trying to help the woman. Neither the woman or the neighbor could be resuscitated at the scene. Names of the victims were not available at press time.

Emergency personnel described the accident as bizarre and unusual. "A wire not grounded from the house was connected to the garage and came in contact with the dog run. It became a live wire... With the wet ground and her being barefoot, she became the perfect ground for the current," a rescue official explained.—STAFF REPORT

State delays train station

VERNON HILLS—After a nine-month bureaucratic delay by the Illinois Department of Transportation, the Village of Vernon Hills received the approval for temporary traffic signals on Route 45 at the entrance of its new commuter train station. The delay has postponed the building of the village's new Metra train station. Metra service along the Wisconsin Central Railroad is expected to begin Aug. 19. The village received the approval letter July 30, although the village sent in the engineering designs last October.

"We just received the letter," commented Assistant Village Manager James Doyle, who has been in communication with IDOT since last October. "No one is more frustrated than me."

Initially, commuter trains will not stop at the Vernon Hills station as the village will not be able to bid for the station until Aug. 20. The Vernon Hills station was the only site along the line required to make major improvements to a state road and install a traffic signal.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Village mired in litigation

LAKE ZURICH—Village trustees averted one lawsuit and seem to have encountered another, both stemming from the rezoning of land for commercial use.

Board members unanimously agreed to approve the rezoning of 4.4 acres of land, commonly referred to as the Sojka property, on Route 12 and Clover Hill Lane from R-1/2 single family residential to B-1 business district.

In other litigation, a complaint was prepared to be filed against the village by The Fidelity Group in regards to the rezoning of 38 acres on Route 12, south-east of the E J & E railroad tracks.

Fidelity Group President John A. Sfire has proposed the construction of a 360,000-square-foot single-story shopping center on the land.

His petition to rezone the land from I-2 general industrial and O-2 limited office to B-3 regional shopping district was denied by the board of trustees, following a unanimous recommendation of approval by the Village Plan Commission.

Sfire's attorney was scheduled to file a 20-page complaint against the village in the Circuit Court of Lake County later this week.

"I am extremely disappointed that we have to resort to this," Sfire said in an interview on Aug. 6.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Elderly man killed in crash

WARREN TOWNSHIP—A Round Lake Beach man was killed when his 1982 Buick was struck by another car driven by a Zion man on Rte. 45 1/2 mile south of Sand Lake Road.

Frank Corbett, 73, was pronounced dead at the scene by a doctor with the Flight For Life helicopter, according to Lake County Sheriff's Department. Corbett's vehicle was in the southbound lane and Jim Miller, 19, couldn't avoid hitting Corbett's car. Miller wasn't ticketed for the accident.—by ALEC JUNG

Driver strikes man on bike

GRAYSLAKE—Nathan Ovitt 21, of Mundelein, was the victim of a hit and run accident August 1, at approximately 12:10 a.m. as he was riding his bike along Route 45 headed north, just south of Route 120. He is currently listed in serious condition at Condell Medical Center of Libertyville. Police are searching for a possible witness and the driver of the vehicle which hit him.

Ovitt wasn't discovered until almost a half hour after he was hit according to Grayslake police. A motorist noticed a mangled bike along the side of Rt. 45 around 12:40 a.m. and notified police. It wasn't until they went to the scene that Ovitt was discovered unconscious on the side of the road.

He said the driver may have thought they hit a deer or maybe they became frightened and left the scene. According to Sergeant Matt McCutcheon the incident may not have even been the driver's fault and it is difficult to say whether they would be charged if located.

The Grayslake Police Department set up a road-block the night after the accident from 11:45 p.m.-1:30 a.m. in the vicinity of where Ovitt was found and handed out fliers to motorists in an attempt to find a witness but they didn't have any luck.

The police are asking anyone who may have information on the accident to notify them at 223-2341.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Amstadt's to close its doors

WAUCONDA—One of the village's two grocery stores is closing its doors after 14 years of business in the community. Amstadt's Finer Foods, 425 W. Liberty St., will close its doors for the last time sometime later this month, according to owner Frank Amstadt of Wheaton.

"We are in the process of closing," Amstadt said. "We are in the process of selling the merchandise out."

Amstadt cited poor conditions of the store and Wauconda Center shopping center where the store is located. A leaky roof, poor parking lot and building exterior were chief among his complaints.

Property management officials disagreed, saying the center was well kept for since they took over in 1991.

Amstadt's has been in Wauconda for 14 years. A majority of the 35 employees will transfer to Amstadt's other store in Fox River Grove.

A discounted merchandise sale was to be announced as early as this week.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Village boundary talks near

GURNEE—Gurnee may allow Waukegan to keep one automobile dealership while village and city officials consider a overall boundary agreement.

Union Nissan is seeking to have its westward expansion be considered all in Waukegan's city limits.

"We are talking to six or eight automobile dealerships about the west side of town," Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton said.

Welton would like to see an agreement regarding Route 120 at O'Plaine Road area. Waukegan would stay south of Route 120, with Gurnee staying north in future annexations.

Welton said that would "kill" a proposed apartment complex. Welton would rather see a business park there. Route 53 expansion plans are another factor.

Another part of the yet-to-be detailed boundary agreement is a water service clause in the event of an emergency in either municipality.—by STEVE PETERSON

Hometown bands part I in a three part series

With folding chairs placed strategically near amplifiers, guitars and drums, the members of a newer southern Lake County band wait for friends to come and jam.

This is a creative day for Shadophor.

Players in the band can be traced to Libertyville and Mundelein, joining forces to churn out a non-specific style, combining cool Jazz, poetic Doors-type lyrics, hot Latino rhythm and universal Blues.

Pieces of their personalities create a unique band-sound, adding to the specialty of Shadophor.

Leaning up against an amplifier at the group's main practice-ground—a Diamond Lake garage, newest band member Jason Nazarof, 21, explains, "Our backgrounds are probably really different."

Nazarof said his parents had to nearly drag him to piano lessons. Finally after a dozen years of mastering the keyboards, he no longer feels forced to play. Ironically, his parents now tell him not to get "too serious" with the music, as his studies come first.

Bassist Ben Auten, 22, of Libertyville has been playing guitar and bass guitar for more than seven years. The Iowa State University student will be going back to school in the fall, but according to band members, he will still be performing with them when he can.

"He's always the dude that puts a smile on your face and keeps you going," said percussionist Rob Szymczak.

Fellow musicians agree on Eric Schmidt, the band's lead singer. "That voice," they simply say. With his powerful set of vocal chords which could carry a tune from here to Albuquerque, he lends his style to the clean crisp language of long-gone performer Jim Morrison. With eyes

County 4-H champions prepare for Illinois State Fair

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Elaine Aaltonen and 4-H clubs have a long history. "I met my husband in Finland when I was in 4-H," she recalled.

Today, she continues her involvement in 4-H as she is community leader for the Helping Hands 4-H Club.

That club is one of 21 in Lake County. Their best projects will be on display at the Illinois State Fair Aug. 9-18 in Springfield. The 4-Hs are Heart, Head, Hand and Health.

"Our group did very well. We had several best of show ribbons," Aaltonen said.

Ribbon rankings lead to lifelong learning skills

A run down on how 4-H club members projects are judged at the Lake County Fair:

"Every 4-H member has potential for a blue ribbon project. In the 4-H show the members are not judged against each other. Rather, each child is judged conference style with the judge taking into account the child's age and number of years in the project area. If it needs improvement, the project gets a red ribbon. If it needs much improvement, it gets a white ribbon. Many times a member learns a great deal when he or she is awarded a red or white ribbon and the following year strives for and usually attains the blue rating. The judging is an educational experience," Pat Henschen, leader of the Warren Hotshots 4-H Club said.

Members who received blue ribbons are then considered in competitive judging. The best blue ribbons exhibit in each class may be awarded a Grand Champion while the next best gets a Reserve Champion ribbon. Best in Show ribbons are awarded from all the Grand Champions ribbon projects in a given area. A Best in Show trophy may cover several areas.

Members age 10 and up as of Jan. 1, 1996, may then be selected for Illinois State Fair Junior Department Exhibits in each project area. Members may be selected for State Fair in several areas but can only exhibit in one. For this reason, State Fair alternates are selected to fill in as needed, Henschen explained.

The Illinois State Fair is Aug. 9-18 in Springfield.

The 4-H members work on projects year-round.

They give talks, demonstrations, go on tours, and do hands-on activities. They show other members how to do things and get experience in leadership and citizenship. The entire family gets involved in 4-H activities. The 4-H's are: Heart, Head, Hand and Health. Youth age 8 through 19 are eligible for membership. The 4-H program is the youth education program of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. The Lake County office is located on Route 45 in Grayslake. For more information, call 223-6629.—by STEVE PETERSON

Among the winners were her son Christopher, who won for clothing, modeling a suede

European style shirt with metal buttons.

Nichole Nelzen won for best of show and grand champion for her display of rabbits.

Manya Reinier of Zion, a member of the Millburn club, won seven grand champions and had two reserves.

For Justin Reuter, the first step to the state fair, the just completed Lake County Fair, meant prepping his award-winning goat, Annie.

"There is not much maintenance involved. Just give her attention and she will get friendly and run towards you," the Antioch youth said.

A member of the Millburn Clovers 4-H Club, Reuter won reserve champion and showmanship awards.

"We had a goat a couple of years ago to give our horse a friend," said Reuter, whose family owns 2 acres off Route 173, said.

"You have to work hard to get the animals ready," Leslie Davidson, fellow Millburn member and an Antioch High student, said. "I enjoy being with friends. My mom was the one who got me interested." She won a best of show for in goats and one grand champion for sheep.

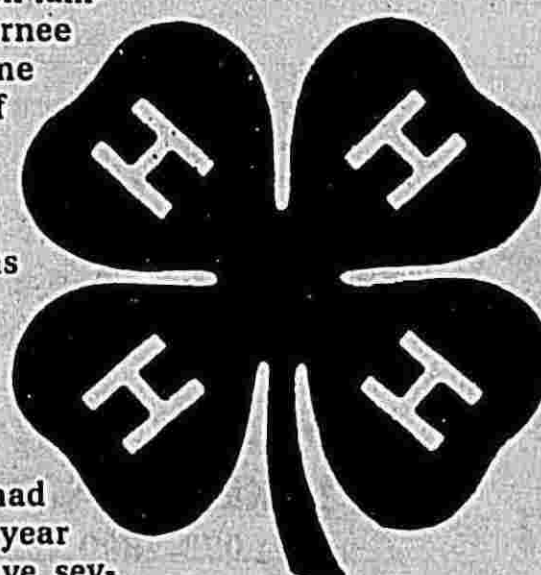

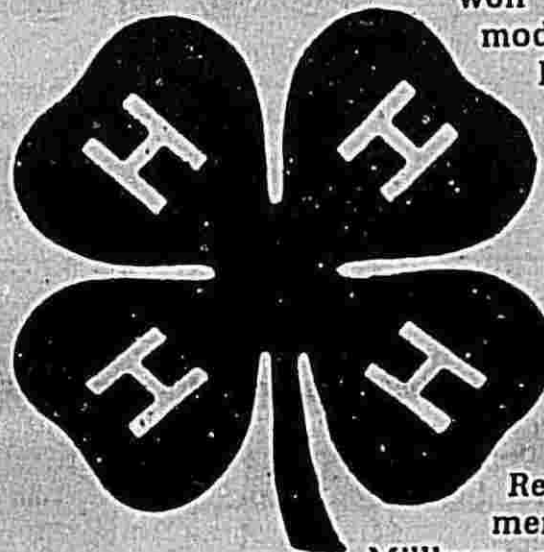

"The philosophy is to learn by doing. The most important thing is they get a most important sense of individual development," Lynn Dolittle, leader of the Millburn Clovers Club, said.

"Keeping records is the key that sets 4-H apart. They have to write down everything and that will help them in adult life," Aaltonen said. Members range in age from 8 to 19. The 4-H year begins in September and ends with the state fair. Judging is done the Monday and Tuesday before the county fair, with a separate awards night on Friday.

"It is cool to see the members grow up and develop in life," Dolittle said. Her Millburn 4-H group has 30 members.

The Henschen family of Gurnee brought home dozens of awards from the fair. Kristen Henschen had 23 blue ribbons and her sister Amy had 29. Both will be delegates to the state fair.

"We have had an influx of 8-year olds and we have several people in their final year of 4-H," Mary Kay, of University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, said.

Sue Soukup, Youth Extension Educator for the Cooperative Extension, said the number of clubs in the county has been steady.

"We have about 8,000 members including the school enrichment program. Teachers use 4-H materials to support their materials. We go to the Lake County teachers institute day at Six Flags Great America," she said.

Shadophor

closed, it's easy to imagine.

Guitarist Edison Cruz can slip a curve ball to any average group by simply spicing up the Shadophor menu with his exotic flair. The Puerto Rican native uses fancy finger-work to twang out tunes, helping to set aside this band from all the rest.

Szymczak, 23, met Cruz through his brother where they both attended Mundelein High School. Both are deemed the founders of the band which started nearly four years ago. Since then, jam sessions and rehearsals have taken place in a garage the Szymczak family has been gracious enough to allow the band to utilize.

The eldest offspring of Polish immigrants, Szymczak is blessed with a musical background. As a child he took keyboard lessons, and when he was a little older a relative taught him the basis of the drums.

Szymczak remembers the band's initial public performance well. "The first place we played was the Irish Mill," he said. "About 3 1/2 years ago, we finally got down a couple of songs, and we realized there was an open mike [night] down the road. We went and just let it crank."

Usually Shadophor meets to rehearse several times a week, but more often than not, the members just jam with friends and new musicians they've met. Szymczak explained how it is. "There are days when we're creative; days when we're more serious."

When making a song, whether the lyrics or the melody comes first is strictly up to the artist, agreed Shadophor members. To Nazarov, "I think it's the easiest thing to do." The pre-med student said he prefers getting a tune worked out before adding words. The group's lead singer does just the opposite.

"Like I Do," one of Eric's original accomplishments, was written first in a poetic form. The words are easy to remember, along with the catchy melody.

Most of the songs performed by Shadophor are unique, though on rare occasions they'll be asked to perform something already popular. "We want to try to promote our own original music. It's hard," said Szymczak.

When summer is over, and two of the band members return to school, the band will continue to play in small college towns. There's a following with Shadophor, Szymczak said And why not? "We're a hometown band," he added.

Trip Cancellation Insurance...Do I Need It?

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Tomorrow's the day the family leaves for the dream cruise everyone's been planning on for so long. Little Johnny hasn't been feeling well, so you figure a quick trip to the doctor before the trip is a good precaution.

Then you get the news. Johnny's got the measles! Looks like the vacation is going to be put on hold for a while. But surely you're not going to lose all the money you paid for the cruise.

If you didn't purchase trip cancellation insurance, it's quite likely you will. Now, let's say little Johnny's measles didn't show up until the third day of the cruise, about the time you're due to dock in Aruba. A one-way air ticket back could cost over $600. Again, if you had purchased trip cancellation insurance, you probably would be reimbursed for the cost of getting the family home and maybe even the cost of the unused portion of the cruise.

Have you ever thought about what would happen if, let's say you get to the airport, the fog rolls in and the "Flight Delayed" messages start flashing on the departure boards. Eight hours later, your plane leaves the gate. Problem is, your ship is also leaving the port in Miami. What now?

Again, most trip cancellation policies will pay for a hotel room that night and a plane ticket to meet your ship at the next port.

Keep in mind all trip cancellation insurance policies are not alike. Far from it. Most will cover cancellations for illness of travelers as well as illnesses or the death of a family member. Also covered are unforeseen events such as jury duty, a flat on the way to the airport, a house fire, or an airline strike. Keep in mind though, most do not cover "pre-existing" conditions. For example, if you have a heart condition, and you have to cancel your trip because of complications of that illness, most policies are not going to pay.

There are some "cancel for any reason" plans, but they are much more costly than $5 to $7 per $100 of coverage of the standard plans.

When purchasing trip cancellation insurance, insist that your travel agent explain what is, and what is not covered. If the insurance offered directly through the cruise line or tour operator is not to your liking, ask to see another plan. Most travel agencies work with at least a couple of independent insurers offering a variety of policies.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

'Seven' lucky # at Candlelight

Things are literally jumpin' at the Candlelight Dinner Playhouse as seven brides and seven brothers are leaping with joy in a new theater-in-the-square version of the 1950s classic MGM musical film, "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers."

Sometimes raucous, sometimes funny, sometimes soft and romantic, but always happy, "Seven Brides" puts grin on your face, has your toes tappin' and your hands clappin' even if you're not the "Turkey in the Straw" type.

It was a big film 40 years ago, with the big voice of Howard Keel in command as the older brother Adam, and perky Jane Powell playing his wife, Milly.

Robert Gallagher sails through the part of Adam in Candlelight's version with the same charming, rambling manner and big voice, and Kathy Voytko takes delightful, if sometimes overdone, command of all four sides of the stage stage, whether she's singing, dancing, or bossing the rest of the cast around.

This is the story of seven mountain men who kidnap seven town girls with legal mating in mind, back in the 1800s.

Though no smash hits came from the film, the music and lyrics by Gene de Paul and the great Johnny Mercer are pleasing enough, mainly because they fit into the story so well. The new songs by Al Kasha and Joel Hirschorn are an extra musical plus.

Because of the chorus' stage enveloping square dancing ballet numbers, the only scenery involved are several benches.

The mountain theme is cleverly carried through with a fiddlin' four-man on stage country band, over sized quilted pictures that drop from the ceiling depicting the scenes, and a segment where all the brides wear dresses that look as if they were made from traditional quilts.

Candlelight has an arresting, top notch hunk of family musical fun in this a production that is well directed by David Perkovich, fresh from the theater's latest production of "Brigadoon."

All the brides are lovely, talented and bubbly, and all the brothers sing and dance up a storm. Christopher De Angeles is a standout in the role of the youngest brother Gideon.

Show stopping numbers run rampant from "Sobbin' Women," done by Adam and the brothers, the haunting "Love Never Goes Away," done by the two leads, to the lively finale, "Wedding Dance."

A sure sign of a smashing production is one that keeps a smile on our face from the opening number to the finale. This is all good clean musical Americana. Call (708)496-3000 for more information.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Every room in the Rade's home has an incredible view of the Dutch Creek Channel or the Dutch Creek Bay. The home, located in Johnsburg, was built 16 years ago by the owner, Kerwin Rade.

Rooms with a view are memorable at lakefront home

The home at 2717 Tichfield Terrace in Johnsburg has no windows in front. They're all where it counts—where anyone looking out will be treated to a fantastic view of Dutch Creek Channel or Dutch Creek Bay.

"Every room in the house has a view," noted owner Jan Rades. "You feel like outside is inside."

The house was built 16 years ago by Jan's husband, Kerwin. About 25 homes in the subdivision have been produced by Rades Construction. The 4,500-square-foot home on Tichfield is the third Jan and Kerwin have lived in there, and they are planning to build another not far away.

Graduates of Grant High School, the couple are both from Long Lake and moved out to McHenry County about 25 years ago.

Visitors to the home walk into a great room featuring a panoramic view of the water. More windows near the top of the cathedral ceiling let in light for an airy, open feeling, accentuated by large live plants in the corners. A three-story fireplace made of 27 tons of Eden's stone juts into the kitchen to provide a hearth as well as a barbecue grill.

The massive kitchen features 42 cabinets and drawers, said Jan. Windows across the wall above the sink offer another refreshing view of the water.

A country flavor is reflected in the bath, where reproductions include a footed tub and European-style toilet with a raised tank. An authentic radiator is there for looks only, as is an antique dresser and commode. A pastoral scene is framed by the window.

The open stairway leads up to a wide catwalk connecting two bedrooms. The master suite is designed to be open; a corner rail offers a view down to the fireplace, billiards table, big screen TV, wet bar and poker table. The interior wall is lined with 100-year-old wood and adorned with a photo of the Johnsburg barn from which it was taken. Here too, windows across the back give a spectacular view of the water. A huge deck extends to within 15 feet of the water where a pier awaits visiting boats.

"It's so private, very peaceful," said Jan. "I could sit out here for hours."

A variety of wildlife makes frequent appearances, she said.

great room, and a sliding door leads to a large rear deck. A fireplace adds intimacy. The suite also features a sitting/dressing room and a 31-foot closet that also offers a lakeview. The bath is open as well, but a large shade provides privacy if needed.

The guest bedroom also features access to the deck, and includes a private bath with a view.

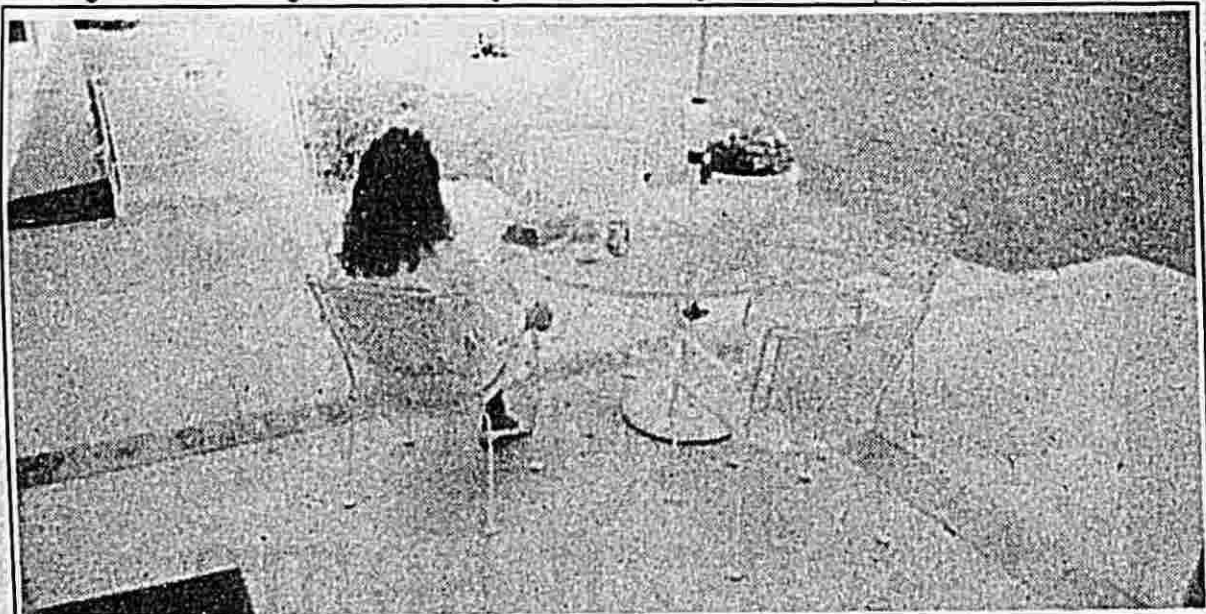

The lower level includes a huge "entertainment room" that includes a

Jan said she used to teach dance in fact, but now helps out with billing and bookkeeping for Kerwin's business and for a printing business owned by her niece and nephew. Another nephew is a real estate agent with RE/MAX, a handy arrangement since the couple plans to build a smaller home in the subdivision and therefore has put this one on the market. For information call Wayne Moran of ReMax Plaza at 1-800-359-1488.

Variety of viburnums available to enhance landscapes

With so many species of viburnum and numerous cultivars, I felt the need to write about a few more viburnums.

The viburnum opulus "Compactum" is a selected compact strain of viburnum opulus. A single white flower appears in late April, early May and is followed by a showy, scarlet fruit which hangs on until spring. A great plant for mass plantings. The true dwarf form of this plant is the viburnum opulus "Nanum" which has a height of only two to three feet and is mounded in shape. Great for foundation or low hedge plant and requires no trimming. Does well in sun or light shade, however, rarely flowers.

The viburnum plicatum shasta has a horizontal growth pattern and gets twice as wide as high. The flower is very large and appears in large white masses in May. Attains a height of six feet with a width of 10 to 12 feet. A scarlet colored fruit in late July through August. The fall foliage is a plum color.

The viburnum sargentii is a large shrub with creamy white flowers in flat clusters. The height spread is 10 to 12 feet with large scarlet fruits. A yellowish-red fall foliage. The plant is similar in appearance to the viburnum opulus. The viburnum sargentii "Onondaga" is one of our favorites. Its height spread is six to eight feet. Its shape is globose. One of its interesting habits is the foliage emerges a velvety maroon and matures to a deep green tinged with purple. Even the flowers are tinged purple. A red fruit. Great for screen or shrub border plant.

The viburnum trilobum, American Cranberrybush is a large shrub 10 to 12 feet with a rounded shape. The foliage has a distinct lobed leaf. White flowers in late May. The berries are quite persistent and last well into winter. The viburnum trilobum "Alfredo" is a compact form of the American Cranberrybush which was selected by a man named Alfredo "Freddie" Garcia at Baileys Nurseries in St. Paul, Minn. A very dense, compact rounded shrub. Height/spread is five to six feet. The foliage is an attractive green with a red fall color. The flower and fruit are sparse.

The viburnum trilobum "Hahs" is another selection of the American Cranberrybush. It has excellent flowering and fruit display for a smaller plant. Height/spread is six to eight feet. The deep red fall foliage also stands out. A heavy fruiting form of the viburnum trilobum with a large red fruit is the viburnum trilobum "Wentworth." The fruit of this plant is excellent tasting and good for making preserves. Height/spread is 10 to 12 feet. It attracts wildlife.—by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect/owner of Mill Creek Nursery, Wadsworth.

Is getting organized on your lists of things to do?

The following quiz is designed to help you decide whether your family and home need an organizational overhaul.

1. Do you carry your calendar with you at all times?
2. Do you set priorities?
3. Do you make appointments with yourself?
4. Do you put aside time each week to get organized or to maintain your organizational systems?
5. Are you always on time for scheduled appointments?
6. Do you have a mail filing system to avoid misplacing important information?
7. Do you use an answering machine or portable phone?
8. Do you keep a grocery list and follow it?
9. Do the clothes that you keep in your closet fit, and do you wear them regularly?
10. Do all family members share in household chores?
11. Do you store "like" items together?
12. Do you spend less than 30 minutes cleaning up your house at the end of the day?

If you answered "no" more than five times, your quality of life could improve with some organizational tools and guidance. The following tips and ideas to aid in organization tasks and schedules. These are some basic musts for people who are looking to simplify their surroundings.

- Keep a daily "to do" list. Cross things off the list as you complete them.
 - Set priorities.
 - Keep a calendar with you for appointments. Ideally, this is kept in the same place as your "to do" list!
 - Put aside time each week for organizing, maintaining or refining your organizational systems.
 - Use high-energy time to deal with your most important projects.
 - Work on components of projects together. Complete similar tasks—such as paying the household bills—at one time.
 - Store like items together.
 - Set aside blocks of time to work. Turn on your answering machine and close the door to avoid interruptions.
 - Divide complex projects into manageable segments.
 - Reward yourself.
- Organizing and streamlining your surroundings will allow you greater freedom to take control and create order out of chaos.

Attractive dining room invites family to enjoy good food, conversation any time

In these days of laid-back lifestyles and casual entertaining, there's something special about eating in the dining room. Polished wood, soft candlelight, sparking crystal and china make any meal special.

Everyone sits a little straighter, the children mind their manners, and whatever the food, it takes on added elegance. It's like dining out, but with all the comforts of home. An attractive dining room invites family and friends to enjoy good food and conversation any time.

What particular style the room serves up depends on personal taste and entertaining preferences. One family's idea of a perfect dining experience may be a sit-down dinner at a Queen Anne table, while another may prefer a casual buffet set out on mellow country pine. What really matters is that the furnishings are comfortable enough to make people linger long after the meal is over.

Many dining rooms retain a certain formality, but there's a new emphasis to comfort and personal choice. Patterns are bolder, colors are fresher and furniture-wood choices more varied (including painted finishes). Table settings, too, are innovative, less laced in by traditional designs.

Formal or informal, furnishings and table wares today can easily handle any occasion and mood. For instance, dress a proper Queen Anne table in a plaid runner and watch it turn more casual. By topping a homey country table with lacy cloth and a mix of antique china it's ready for a feast. Dining "rooms" have changed, too.

Now they are anywhere you make them, maybe in a separate room, but just as likely in an area carved out of the great room or an alcove off the kitchen. Whatever the site or location, there is no reason to let this prime space sit idle except for occasional meal-serving.

In fact, it's the quiet and seclusion between meals that make the dining room so well suited for a double life. What better place for reading or relaxing than in a small upholstered chair tucked into a cozy corner.

Filling a bare wall with a library of books, accessories and built-ins is not only immensely practical, it also makes dining more inviting and intimate.

So, dim the lights, pour the wine and rediscover the pleasures of a dining room. Bon appétit!

Entertaining ideas
Are you looking for ways to add excitement and fun to your parties? It seems we are always looking for new ideas to dress up our entertainment functions. Browse through the following great suggestions and you will be sure to find the perfect idea to make your next party your best one ever.

- Instead of a static floral arrangement, fill colorful glasses with flowers and place them down the table's center.

- To spice up a child's birthday party, fill a basket with colorful gift-wrapped party favors and use it as an attention-getting centerpiece.

- A favorite centerpiece for a casual table is a grouping of three clay pots in varied sizes filled with blooming plants.

- For a dramatic centerpiece effect, go for a one-color look. Set white china on a textured or patterned white cloth and keep to your theme with a centerpiece of daisies or white narcissus.

- Don't be afraid to mix unexpected color and pattern with your basic china. If your china is a traditional pattern, try using serving pieces in a colorful, contemporary pattern.

The colors of the pieces should complement each other.

- Ask your interior decorator for custom, colorful tablecloths and placemats. Combine a patterned cloth with a coordinating design in placemats and napkins.

- Don't overlook your collections. Group small items like sea shells or votive candles together on a tray or mirror-glass runner.

- Start gathering an assortment, both old and new, of table linens, side dishes, glasses, etc. Use these treasures in combination with pretty fabrics and old lace to create unusual tablescapes.

- Dress a summer table with a bowl full of the season's freshest produce.—

Gas company advises connectors more than 10 years old be replaced

An important safety message is on its way to nearly 135,000 customers of North Shore Gas Co., alerting them to the danger posed by certain flexible gas connectors commonly used in area homes and small businesses.

The utility issued the warning to each of its residential and commercial customers in a massive mailing that was completed last week.

Flexible connectors bring gas from supply pipes to appliances such as stoves, dryers, and room heaters. They are made of corrugated metal tubing—newer models being fabricated from stainless steel or from brass that has been coated with plastic. Most older connectors, however, were made from uncoated brass.

Some of these uncoated brass connectors, the utility noted, have a serious flaw in the way they were made. Solder was used to braze, or join, the flexible brass tubing to the end pieces. Over time, the brazing can fail, the company warned, causing a serious gas leak, which could lead to an explosion or fire.

North Shore Gas said that to its knowledge, uncoated brass connectors with the brazed ends have not been made since 1976.

Utility service personnel, however, routinely find some of them still in use throughout the area, even though they have been out of production for 20 years. The older these connectors get, the company cautioned, the greater the possibility of their failure.

In its safety message to customers, North Shore Gas said: "It is very difficult to see whether a flexible connector has been brazed. So don't take a chance. If uncoated brass connectors exist in your home, they should be replaced with either new stainless steel or new plastic-coated connectors.

"In fact, it's a good practice to replace any flexible gas connector that is more than 10 years old," the company said.

"This is because flexible connectors are not meant to last a lifetime. Older units can wear out from too much moving, bending, or from corrosion."

home
'96

North Shore Gas recommends that a flexible connector be inspected without moving the appliance attached to it. If that's not possible, the utility advises that a service contractor be called to make the inspection.

Moving an appliance could strain the connector, possibly causing a gas leak, the utility said. So if the appliance must be moved, it is best to have a professional do it.

If a replacement is needed, the utility advises customers to make sure the new connector is certified by the American Gas Association (AGA) and conforms to the American Standards Institute (ANSI) Standard Z21.24.

Flexible gas connectors safety tips

- Flexible connectors should not be crushed, pinched, twisted or severely bent.

- Do not install flexible connectors through walls, ceilings, or floors.

- A flexible connector should be no longer than six feet and should be attached to a gas supply pipe equipped with a shutoff valve located in the same room as the appliance.

- Do not re-use a flexible connector when you replace an appliance or move to a new home. Use a new one.

Several tips to foil home burglaries

Light, time and noise are a homeowner's greatest weapons in the fight to prevent a home burglary.

There are more than 5 million home burglaries each year and nine out of 10 of these crimes are preventable. To help prevent home burglaries follow these suggestions:

- Think like a burglar. "Case" your house the way a burglar would and look for easy ways to enter your home. This will help to identify your greatest security weaknesses. Look to see if valuables, such as expensive electronic devices or artwork, are visible from the street. If a passerby can see your belongings, so can criminals.

- Keep in mind that a burglar's three worst enemies are light, time and noise. Exterior lights mounted out of reach can reduce the risk of a break-in.

Also, make it time-consuming for a burglar to break into your home by installing simple security devices like padlocks, bars, grates, and door and window locks. These devices can discourage intruders and keep them from entering. Noise is another important deterrent. Dogs, alarms and other noisy security devices reduce the risk of a break-in.

- Trim trees and shrubs near doors and windows. High fences and shrubbery can add to your privacy, but privacy is a burglar's assets.

- Outside doors should be metal or solid hardwood and at least 13.4 inches thick.

- Install a sophisticated burglar and smoke alarm system. Systems that ring at outside services or that contact police and fire department are highly effective in reducing burglaries, fire-related damage and injuries.

Don't go it alone: use a pro to sell your home

When the time comes to sell your home, you must decide whether to seek assistance from a real estate professional or attempt to sell it yourself.

People who try to sell their own homes are denying themselves the benefit of a real estate professional who is trained to sell real estate on the terms most advantageous to the party he or she represents.

To maximize exposure and minimize problems, enlist the services of a broker. Your peace of mind and a great deal of money are at stake.

The following guidelines, suggested by the Lake County Assn. of Realtors®, can help you find a broker to meet your home selling needs.

- Choose your agent with care, as you would a lawyer or doctor. Talk with friends, neighbors and co-workers who have recently bought or sold a home in the area.

What kind of service did they receive? Would they select the same

at home
'96

broker or company again?

- Attend an open house to observe sales associates in action and judge their expertise. Were you shown the home in a professional manner? How familiar were the sales associates with the property?

- Focus on real estate companies that specialize in residential sales.
- Read the real estate section in newspapers for listings of homes in the same price as yours. This will allow you to identify companies that market homes similar to yours, and see how your home stacks up against the competition.

- Target companies located in your area of the community. They are more likely to be familiar with the area schools, businesses and places of worship—precisely the type of information that likely will be sought by prospective buyers.

Once you have narrowed your selection of potential listing companies to five or less, contact each for an interview.

The following questions may be helpful in selecting a broker:

How long have you been licensed? How long have you actively worked in the area? How many home sales have you closed in the last three months? Do you work full-time as a real estate professional?

Can you give me names of three references whose homes you've recently sold? How will you work to actively seek buyers for my home?

Will you participate in a cooperative listing service? Are you a member of the National Assn. of Realtors®?

The size of the company, as well as its status as a franchise, independent firm or conglomerate, are all variables you should consider. However, your choice generally will be a matter of personal preference.

Each variable has certain advantages to offer, but the reputation of a particular company is based on the knowledge, competence and professionalism of the individuals who work there.

From castaways to keepsakes: creative recycling in the kitchen

Garbage is garbage. Or so you've always thought. The greening of America, however, is forcing many people to think twice before they throw something away. Creative thinking can transform nearly any "trash" item into a festive gift.

Try looking at boxes, bottles and lidded cans (such as coffee cans) with a new eye. For example, tall, slim glass bottles (such as wine or vinegar bottles) can show off homemade flavored vinegars to their best advantage. To make your own, pour a good quality white or wine vinegar over your favorite fresh herbs, such as springs of rosemary and thyme or cloves of peeled garlic or shallots. Seal with corks purchased at a gourmet shop and tie with pretty ribbon. These vinegars will surely please your favorite cook or salad lover.

Another much-appreciated gift made from kitchen recyclable is a specially decorated box or can filled with sweet treats. Using glue, cover a lidded box or can with wrapping paper or wallpaper. Once the can or box is covered, personalize with trims, buttons, beads and so on. Fill with cookies or candies and you have a tasty, inexpensive gift.

Breathe new life into pickle or jelly jars by gluing trims to their lids and filling with a favorite indulgence. Bath beads, spices, potpourri, fancy pastas and preserves are just a few of the many items made more appealing by being presented in clear glass with a "designer" top.

Once you get started with these ideas, it's easy to create many projects of your own. A little time and energy can turn kitchen throwaways into inexpensive, delightful gifts.

Now is time for annual bed check

One of the most beneficial home improvements you can make is in the piece of furniture you use more than any other in the house—your bed. When you're ready to feather the nest, consider more than just aesthetics. Beautiful bed linens and a handsome headboard are nice, but it's the quality of the mattress that affects your sleep, overall health and well-being.

How do you know when it's time for a new mattress? The following are guidelines to help you examine your bed:

1. Is the mattress more than 8 to 10 years old? If so, it's probably no longer providing adequate comfort and support.
2. Is the cover soiled, stained or torn?
3. Do the mattress or foundation (box spring) surfaces show sagging spots or look uneven?

4. Would you be embarrassed to show your bed, without covers, to your neighbors?

5. Is the mattress comfortable in some places and in some positions, but not in others?

6. When you turn over, do you hear creaks or crunches?

7. When you roll around, does the bed wobble or sway?

8. Are you and your partners rolling together without meaning to?

9. Are you fighting each other for enough space to get comfortable?

10. Do you wake up with a neck or backache?

If you answered "yes" to one or more of these questions, your old mattress may be ready for retirement. Still in doubt? Go mattress shopping and compare what is available today with the feel of your old mattress.

There's no such thing as a bad boy (or girl)

Today's column title is, I believe, taken from the immortal words of Father Flanagan of Boys Town.

What exactly did Father Flanagan mean? Well, I think it's apparent that he never had Jeffrey Dahmer as a student. But I believe what he meant was that, not counting those with dangerous eating disorders, there are no "bad" children - some are just more challenging.

With my fourth child, a girl, I am suddenly thinking a lot about Father Flanagan and Boys Town. I'm thinking, "Why is it just for boys? Isn't that discrimination?" Of course, these are just fleeting thoughts in moments of total exasperation. I don't get them often - just 19 or 20 times a day on week-ends.

Fortunately for my sanity, I'm an avid reader. After a particularly difficult Sunday recently, when my 2 1/2 year old daughter was so out of control that my husband and I began to argue over who actually deserved to run away, me or him, I felt the need to seek guidance from experts. So I rushed to the library on Monday to find a parenting guide that might help us regain a vocabulary of more than just "NO!"

As I looked through the parenting section, one title immediately caught my eye - "The Difficult Child". Of course, I thought a title like "The Mind-Numbingly Difficult Child" might be more appropriate, but this was close enough. I quickly skimmed the first chapter and as I did, I felt relief at seeing my daughter's behavior described as "normal, but temperamentally difficult".

I rushed to the librarian to check these stories about her.

What they don't realize is that with Samantha, there's a "grace period for strangers". She has to feel comfortable to be difficult. This takes about twenty minutes.

After that, you're as "stupid" as the next guy.

Anyway, after reading this book, I have learned some new ways to handle my daughter, and hopefully make life a little easier for all of us. What's disappointing is that I had thought that having had three previous children, I could raise this one with my eyes closed. (Alright - yes, I still believe in Santa Claus, too.)

But even the most difficult child can steal your heart in one of those precious moments that makes the tough job of parenting worthwhile. For instance, I was driving the children up town to rent a video, and Samantha suddenly said, in a sweet voice that seemed to come from a tiny angel: "Mommy - I wuv you Mommy."

"I love you, too, honey," I said, my eyes moist and my heart bursting with love. Ah, I thought. This is what parenting is all about.

Just then I heard her mumble something else, but I couldn't quite understand what she said. "What is it sweetheart? What did you say?"

"STUPID!"

OK. So it was a short moment.

Movie Pick 'Kill' not new, but worth seeing

There's nothing new about the plot of John Grisham's first novel, now a movie, "A Time to Kill." This is a familiar and emotional racial story that takes place in a familiar southern courtroom.

There's nothing new about the fact that Samuel L. Jackson turns in a fine performance. This time he is the father of a 10-year-old black girl who is raped and beaten by two white men. Believing that southern justice will as usual let his daughter's attackers go free, he performs a public execution and shoots them down while they are in police custody.

The character of Jake Brigance is one we've met before, the poor but honest and moral southern lawyer he hires to fight another familiar "Heat of the Night" type character, the politically ambitious D. A. played by Kevin Spacey.

There's nothing new in tossing in a beautiful superstar like Sandra Bullock to spice things up. She plays a do-gooder legal research type ACLU person.

What is new is the actor who plays Brigance. Matthew McConaughey, who's been around, but in this his first big role, is stardom bound. He's a gorgeous cross between a young Michael Caine and blond Christopher Reeves, with a dash of a young Paul Hogan, a pinch of Redford, and he can act!

Since this is supposed to be the south of the 1990s, we couldn't figure out what besides the racial prejudice made us feel like this was being played back when Mississippi was burning in the 1950s.

Could it be that air conditioning has yet to cross the Mason Dixon line and that's why southern courtrooms are still hot and sweaty with ceiling fans whirring ala Clarence Darrow.

Samuel L. Jackson, Matthew McConaughey

Kieffer Sutherland is a fitting grimacing Ku Klux Klan leader bent on revenging his brother, one of the rapists. His dad Donald plays the traditional drunken has-been legal genius, the third Judd, Ashley, looking good as a blond, plays a doubting Mrs. Brigance.

So in the light of all this familiarity, what makes this movie worth seeing - a fine cast that holds the audience's interest despite the worn plot and the small twist at the end of Brigance's summation.

We do think the National Guard would have been brought in much earlier in real life, but then, there goes some of the familiar emotional plot!

"A Time to Kill," is rated R, and gets four out of five stars from us because this triteness still brings a tear to our eye when handled by such fine actors, and we really dig McConaughey.—by GLORIA DAVIS

ANSWERS

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A loved one is feeling somewhat restricted by you and needs some space. Be sure to do so this week. You've been a bit too overbearing and possessive of late. This weekend, you both enjoy getting together and sharing a good time.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your instincts are right concerning certain people you can't trust on the work front. All in all, though, it's a good time for interests of the heart. The weekend is favored for good times with friends and family.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Someone in authority is being evasive about a big project you've been asked to undertake. This is a deliberate ploy to test your mettle. Later, anything that concerns travel or education is favored. The weekend finds you relaxed and self-confident.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Someone close to you needs your help, particularly concerning a business matter. New opportunities arise to enable you to get ahead. Pay close attention to those details you usually have no patience for.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Tread carefully when it comes to financial dealings with a business partner this week. There are some rather deceptive trends occurring that could mislead you. All in all, progress is made on the work front.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A certain project at work has you puzzled and facing some unanswered questions. Seek help from an expert on this matter. Strengthening your position in business is a good idea, particularly where your status with big-wigs is concerned.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Despite what you'd like to believe when you're in your typical "Pollyanna" frame of mind, not everyone is being honest with you. At the same time, a loved one communicates well with you. Look for some high-stepping fun this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You are correct to feel that a loved one isn't being candid. Try to get to the bottom of this person's resistance to your pleas for more openness. In matters in the work place, it's wise to ground yourself in reality.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) On the one hand, you have some good news coming this week of a financial nature. Conversely, occurrences at work are a source of confusion. Share happy times with loved ones at home this weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Before acting, be sure that the signals you're receiving are correct. Someone is being deliberately misleading, causing you some undue confusion. You have trouble later in the week making a decision.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Something you can't put your finger on is bothering you on the work front. People you need to reach aren't easy to get in touch with. At home, harmony reigns this weekend.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your financial picture isn't clear, as there are mixed trends affecting it. Later in the week, though, there's good news about money. Someone is trying to take advantage of your good nature, so beware.

County approves 5-year road improvement project

The Lake County Board has approved an $86.6 million five-year highway improvement program that continues to emphasize maintenance of existing county highways and bridges.

Major projects in the five-year program include: 74 miles of roads to be resurfaced, 15 major intersections with signals, four bridges to be improved, five bikepath improvements and three miles of road to be widened.

"This level of infrastructure investment supports nearly 3,600 jobs in the construction industry. Maintaining the county's highway system is essential for a healthy local economy and for the efficient movement of goods and people," Bob Depke, Lake County Board chairman said.

Lake County businesses and residents rely on a transportation system that incorporates elements operated by the state, county, 52 municipalities, 16 townships, the Tollway authority, Metra and Pace.

The five-year program was unveiled at the county's public service committee meeting. Committee Chairman Edward A. Fojtik (R-Fox Lake) explained the county has prioritized plans for maintaining 265 miles of major collector arterial highways and 17 miles of bikepaths. "First, we plan to keep the county highways in good condition. Second, we will address safety problem areas. Third, we'll reduce traffic bottlenecks and fourth, we'll meet travel demands to the best of our ability."

The County Board must individually appropriate money for each project from the respective fund. Lake County Division of Transportation Director Martin G. Buehler said that while most of the projects in the five-year program are in varying stages of readiness carried over from previous programs, there are some new ones including:

- 25 miles to be rehabilitated
- Dilley's Road bridge replacement
- Sand Lake Road/US Rte. 45
- Fairfield Road/west loop trail crossing engineering
- Midlothian Road/Illinois Route 176
- Gages Lake Road/Almond Road
- Rollins Road/Nicole Lane
- Grass Lake Road/Illinois Rte. 59

Father

the helm to someone sober if he hadn't been. "If my dad ever did get drunk, he would let people take over the wheel," she said.

Russo explained she never, ever felt afraid to ride on the boat with her father. As a lifelong Chain O' Lakes resident, Dick was well-versed in the ways of the water, boating since he was a young child. He even taught his kids to operate a vessel safely, said Russo.

The night of the accident Carlson was asked to give Renee Roman, 25, of Wonder Lake, a ride from Blarney's Island. According to reports, Roman didn't want to ride with another man as he was too intoxicated. She opted for what she felt was a safe ride with Dick, his son Chris of Arlington Heights, and Heaney.

Russo feels this is an indicator her father wasn't in an impaired state.

Ironically though, Roman, a single mother, was killed along with Dick and Chris, when a 24-foot cabin cruiser dubbed "Nighthawk," operated by Joseph Remke, smashed into the side of the vessel without reported warning.

According to reports Remke, 27, of Marengo, was cited by Lake County Sheriff's for improper lighting. The red bow light on his boat was faded near to white, say authorities.

Remke did submit voluntarily to a breathalyzer which was negative, and he took a blood test. However test results have not been released yet, according to police.

Russo says there are a number of discrepancies with the reports which she believes prove her father was not at fault for the accident.

Russo wants people to know her dad. He loved life and enjoyed having a good time on the water, she said. Carlson was well known around the Chain O' Lakes and had a number of friends. Even those he didn't know would get a friendly wave from the Johnsburg resident.

Russo says if she ever needed her dad, he was there. That's why she feels her need to defend him.

"He was a responsible, good man regardless of what they found in him," said Russo. "He was a hard working man. He supported his family."

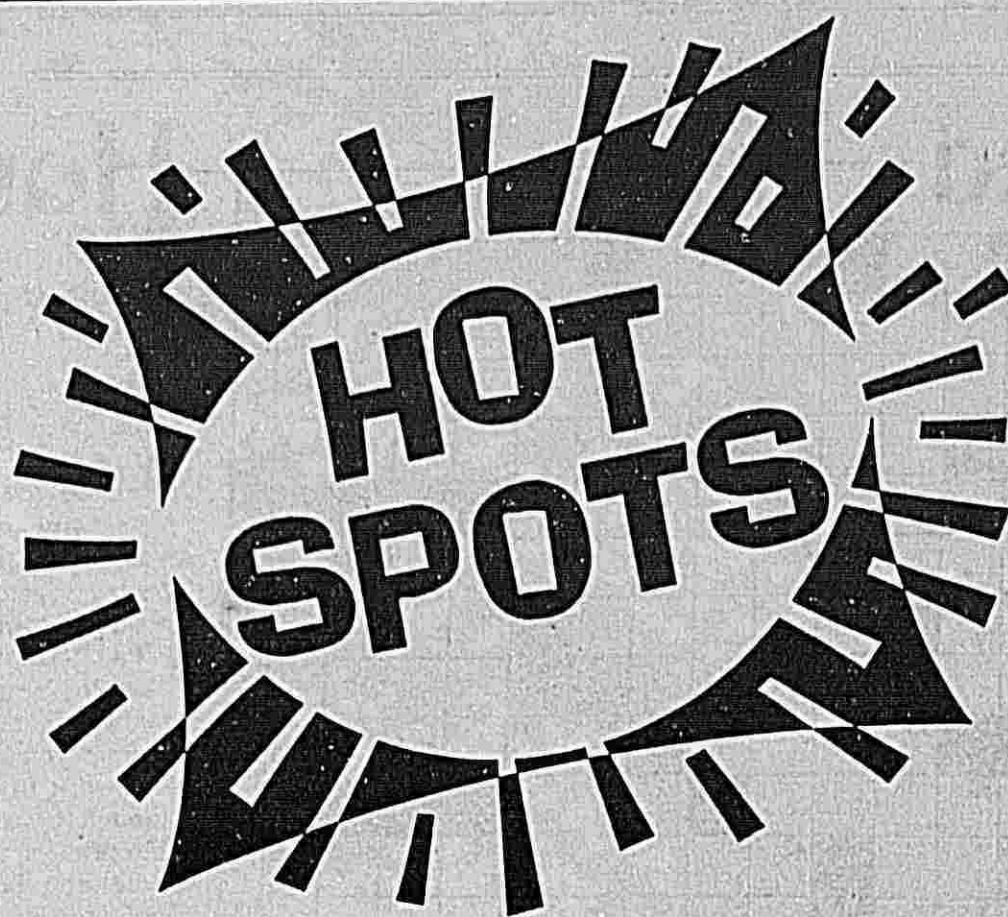

Carlson, 56, was an employee of the Soo Line railroad for 35 years. During the 1960s he served in the U.S. Army for four years, stationed in Germany. Of Swedish descent, Dick was appropriately nicknamed "Swede."

Russo has some harsh words for Lake County Board representative Judy Martini. She said she is flabbergasted that Martini reported "That guy shouldn't have been allowed on the water." "That guy is my father. She doesn't know what kind of person he was."

Lake County Sheriff reports state that Dick Carlson had a vial found on his person which may have contained "some white powder."

As far as the contents in the vial, Undersheriff Gary Del Re said "I'm not gonna comment on that. I'd only be speculating." He added he is awaiting lab reports to be completed.

Pointing out that even President Bill Clinton "smoked, but didn't inhale," Russo summed the issue up. "People drink, people party. It doesn't mean they're bad people."

Hours:
 Lunch Tuesday through Friday. Dinner starting at 4 p.m. daily.

Menu:

Parkway haven for all seafood lovers

Calling all seafood lovers! The Parkway Restaurant on Belvidere Rd. in Waukegan is the restaurant for you. Don't miss the Fish Feast featuring broiled or fried haddock, including chowder, potato and salad for $7.95.

You'll also want to try the Boston Clam Chowder, and watch for the succulent Seafood Bisque that usually appears on the menu every four weeks. This spicy bisque is made with a lobster base and crab meat. Other menu items include fresh baked salmon with hollandaise sauce, and Oysters Lorenzo (baked oysters on the half shell topped with creamy mushroom sauce, doused with crab flakes and sprinkled with Parmesan cheese.) Owner Peter Paulson is proud of the Shrimp de Johnge casserole with just the right amount of garlic, creating a tantalizing aroma.

Seafood is not Parkway's only epicurean forte. The restaurant is also well known for choice beef selections such as prime rib, Parkway Fillet and a 16-ounce strip steak, among others. Choose from a petite cut of prime rib for only $14.95. The regular cut is a bargain at $16.95.

Some of the more popular entrees are the fresh braised lamb shanks for $11.95, and delicious BBQ Baby Back Ribs. Parkway's desserts please the sweet tooth, especially the red layer cake, a multi-layered devil's food concoction and a variety of homemade pies.

Parkway has been a family run business for 50 years with second generation owner Peter Paulson getting help from his wife and son, Martin. Paulson feels that people who come to Parkway are secure in the fact that the restaurant has been able to maintain a professional staff with minimal turnover through the years.

Parkway has a great location for northern Lake County and has been the site for many lucrative business luncheons. As Parkway staff likes to say, "If your lunch is important, you should be having it at Parkway."

Parkway has three separate dining rooms, each with its own individual bar, that can accommodate 20-90 people for special occasions.

Book your event early by calling Parkway at (847)336-0222 for reservations. The restaurant is open for lunch on Tuesday through Friday and open daily at 4 p.m. for dinner.

family who still hasn't gotten over the death of an 8-year-old child. Please stop stealing the things off her grave. This is sick. Think about what you're doing before you do it.

Job well done

To the paramedics who answered the call on Briar Hill Dr. in Island Lake on June 24, your careful handling of my husband in a difficult situation was most gratifying and commendable. Words fail me in expressing my appreciation and gratitude. You certainly deserve lots of praise for a job well done in the face of a difficult situation.—Lillian Marsh

Needs improvement

I'm calling as a recent audience member at the Wauconda Jr. Miss and Little Miss Pageant. Someone called in from Grayslake saying how wonderful their pageant was. I think we need someone from Grayslake to do ours. The pageant lasted almost four hours, from 7:30 to 11 p.m. It was extremely hot, everyone was uncomfortable and I can only imagine how the girls felt in their dresses. The thank-you speeches were way too long. Each girl took 15-20 minutes to give gifts as well.

Not obeying

I'm a resident of Island Lake and I'm calling about the vehicle tax stickers. I've got an article written by the Chief of Police on 6-9-95 about vehicle tax stickers. On my street alone, there's 17 cars that don't have stickers and these people have lived here for nearly two years.

No more games

It turns out the TWA plane was blown up by terrorists. If we find out who sponsored them, level their capital city and put a stop to this. They declared war on us and it's time to quit playing games.

They're waiting

I just read Donna Abear's article and I hope she gets her new dog from "Save-A-Pet." They just moved last month over to Fairfield Rd. and have lots of nice dogs and cats for people to pick out. They're waiting for you!

Just jealous

I'm responding to the July 19 comment, "Shaq is sad." You're a moron. Shaq is See LIPSERVICE page B23

Boo soo

Keep crying, Sox fans, keep making excuses. Cubs fans have enough guts to admit the Sox are a better team. What "In the back seat" was saying has nothing to do with who's better. It has to do with who draws more fans. The Cubs have outdrawn the Sox 10 of the last 11 years. That's with Comiskey holding 10,000 more seats, the Sox playing most of their games at night and being admittedly a much better team. As for ol' Harry goes, sure he's plowed by the second inning, but he's in the Hall of Fame. Also, we bleacher bums always throw enemy home run balls back—it's called tradition. What kind of traditions do the Sox have, throwing games for money?

Use logic

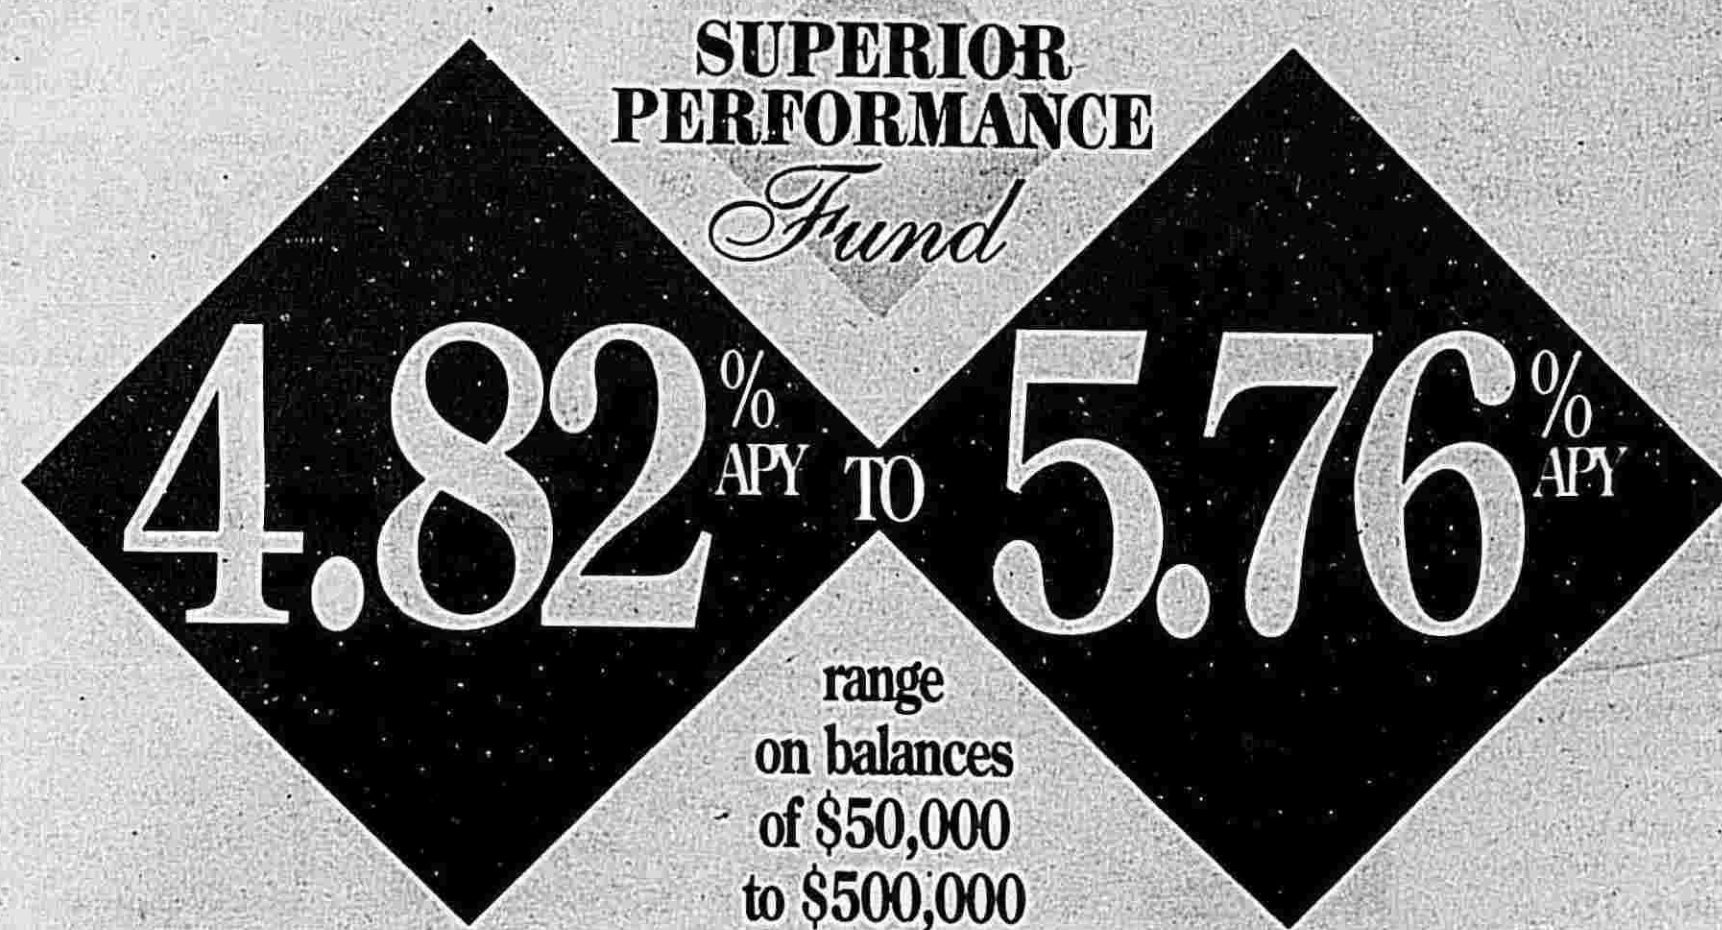

The Chicago Bears are begging the taxpayers of the Chicago area to build them a new stadium. I think it's a great idea and there's a logical way to finance it. Issue revenue bonds on the entire proposition and finance it with a $5 per ticket tax on admission to all sporting activities within the Chicago area, Bears, Cubs Sox, Blackhawks and Bulls. Let sports fans pay for the stadium, they can have it and everyone will be happy.

New policy

I, too, am an avid water skier and I like to fish as much as anyone else. I think the solution by the village would be to create a policy where on odd days the current fishing hours would be enforced and on even days, the village of Wauconda would support skiing hours based on the state's boating regulations. That way, the village could provide the best of both worlds.

Stop robbing

I'm calling about the robbing of articles off of graves. Whoever is doing this needs to stop. You're hurting the entire awesome and you're just jealous because your whole family can't make $95 million in a lifetime. Leave the guy alone and don't complain. I bet you can't even shoot a free throw, make a jump shot or a lay-up. Deal with it.

What a drag

I'd like to know why we haven't gotten a mall in Island Lake at Route 12 and 160. We should have like a Springhill Mall here. It's a drag going to Vernon Hills or Dundee to do shopping.

Selling heritage

I can tell you this, Congress has gone goofy again. The idiot Republicans want to sell off our natural heritage. They're saying anybody can go fossil hunting. That's our national heritage. Public land belongs to people, not just someone who wants to sell something to make a buck. I wish they'd get that in their fat heads.

Stop polluting

The EPA has informed people that charcoal lighter fluid is bad for the environment and your health. I don't understand why people with charcoal don't use electric lighters. It stinks up the neighborhood. Bring yourself up to date and stop polluting everyone's lungs.

Junk yard hall?

To Mayor Davis and the board of trustees of Round Lake Beach, I was in the village hall this past week and it looks like a junk yard. Why don't you get some organization and replace the old notebook covers with decent ones if they're out in public. Also, why spend the taxpayer's money on newsletters if they don't get out on time? I'm tired of reading old news. I guess if you only work part time with full time pay, what should we expect? Remember, Mayor Davis, election time is coming soon.

Good samaritan

I was at the Taste of Antioch and lost a change purse. I want to thank the police department and Mrs. Webber, who found the purse and turned it in. There was no identification in the purse and there was $80 in cash. Nothing was bothered in the purse and I thought this was a wonderful thing. Thank you very much!

Sorry for slur

I was the one who called about the bombing in Saudi Arabia and saw the response in the paper. All I can say is, I don't condemn all Saudi Arabians. If you are a person of that descent, I apologize to you. I do feel the people that have done what they have done are not humans. They had no right to hurt the people they hurt. People in the Middle East are always taking credit for doing this stuff. The behavior is barbaric. Also, the fate of TWA flight 800 might have been caused by a middle eastern bomber. Why take innocent lives? I'm sorry for the slur on your nationality.

Time to stop

Thank you for letting me use Lipservice. Would the Grayslake police department be kind enough to see to it that people stop parking on the sidewalks on Lincoln Ave.? Old people that are out for their walks, women with babies, people walking dogs all have to walk in the middle of Lincoln Ave. because of cars parking on the sidewalk. This is a dangerous situation and I don't know why this is allowed to happen.

Frustrated

I'm beginning to believe there's no such thing as a general dentist anymore. It seems they're all in the business of root canals, costing anywhere from $400 to $2,000. I'm frustrated that each dentist I've tried to go to insists on root canals and not just filling teeth. I think they should think about this.

Driver's ed?

While waiting for someone recently at the Fox Lake train depot, I happened to look into the engine compartment and there sat two boys, approximately 10-12 years old, with the engineer. I find this appalling and don't know why Metra officials allow this.

Play by rules

I have some Generation X neighbors and they seem to think the regulations for watering, noise, dogs, etc. are for someone else. If you're going to have regulations, why should we all have to keep them and they don't? I live on Pheasant Ridge Drive and my neighbors are disgusting.

Enforce laws

Instead of raising property values in Lake Zurich for schools and bonds, etc., why don't the police collect more traffic tickets and zoning violations? It seems nothing is enforced, but they have no qualms about raising property values. The village employees don't have to do any work.

Chamber challenges

Rick Westervelt, brewmaster and partner of Flatlander's Restaurant and Brewery in Lincolnshire, describes Lake County's newest microbrewery to members of the North Suburban Chamber of Commerce Executives. Featured speaker Jill DePasquale (center) of Lakeland netDirect, prepares to explain how businesses can use the Internet.

Agencies team up for workers

Manpower International, a leading temporary agency, and Drake Beam Morin Inc., a leading outplacement firm, have announced a strategic alliance that will provide immediate assistance to many individuals who are seeking employment. Manpower, which provides interim professional, middle management and administrative level employees to companies around the world, will be placing candidates in temporary assignments through DBM's outplacement services.

The beauty of the strategic alliance is that Manpower will get access to one of the most highly qualified pools of employees coming out of the corporate business world, and DBM will be able to offer its candidates a diverse array of interim and project assignments while they look for permanent placements.

Almost 40 percent of these interim assignments result in permanent placement.

"It's an alliance that today makes more sense than ever, given the tremendous talent that is begin-* and the great opportunities in interim assignments," said Carlo Martellotti of DBM. "Interim and project assignments can add value to a candidate's resume, be an entry into a new field or company, and provide immediate needed income. These are all good and useful advantages for anyone looking for work."

This unprecedented alliance between an outplacement firm and a temporary agency will actively match DBM candidates with thousands of interim or project positions which are filled exclusively by Manpower. Manpower will immediately begin screening and assessing people in DBM's group or time-limited outplacement programs. The bulk of this group will fill professional, technical, management and administrative functions.

Because of a great shift among major employers to using part-time and temporary staff as a management strategy, DBM officials believe the Manpower alliance will yield thousands of placements for its candidates every year.

Furniture physician offers TLC for family treasures

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

There's a special lady in town who can doctor up your home by fixing your broken arms and legs—on your tables and chairs that is.

She's the Furniture Medic, and her name is Joan Frisch.

Frisch is excited about her job, and it shows in her work, and while she tours you around her home workshop.

Enthusiastically, the furniture doctor explained how with her mix of special concoctions she revived an old mahogany secretary's desk, once dulled by smoke and wear.

Demonstrating some of her tools, Frisch showed how even the intricate inlay on the period piece was replaced with hot melt sticks and then matching stain.

Other pieces, broken and well-used, sit by in the waiting area of the doctor's office, next in line for her special touch.

If there are gouges, cuts and scrapes on your prized possession, make no fret. The Furniture Medic will be there to save the day.

Water damage? No problem. Frisch has the right prescription for that too.

She can even get you on track with upholstery and refinishing.

What she calls "Deluxing" of table tops is perhaps one of her most sought-after demands. Frisch agreed table tops are always taking a beating. For those four legged friends which are found in every home, the three-step process she uses renews and brings life to the tops on tables.

"It doesn't get out the deep gouges or scratches. What it will do is bring out sheen so it's gorgeous," Frisch explained.

For the more serious furniture bruises, she has other methods.

Family mortgage helps in purchase of home

The Advantage Family Mortgage is now available exclusively at Advantage Bank. Families can now realize their dream of owning their own home sooner without a down payment. If a parent, grandparent or other relative has a certificate of deposit or is willing to invest in one, it can be used instead of a down payment.

How does the Family Mortgage work? It's easy. A family member opens a certificate of deposit at Advantage Bank. This CD remains in the name of the depositor and the loan is in the name of the homeowner.

The family member can select a CD for any term, earn a great rate, and receive an interest check every month. The CD remains at Advantage Bank as security for the mortgage until the equity in the house equals the amount of the CD. The Advantage Family Mortgage allows the homebuyer to purchase a home with a mortgage equal to the purchase price.

"This is an exciting program for us," said Bob Muth, Advantage's senior vice president of mortgage lending. "It is a great way for parents, grandparents and other relatives to assist their family members without any out-of-pocket expense." Muth pointed out that there are many people in the market today who can afford the monthly payment but do not have the required down payment. The homebuyer can buy anywhere in Wisconsin or Illinois. The CD holder can live anywhere.

"If the CD value equals 20 percent of the purchase price, we will not require private mortgage insurance on the loan; this will reduce the buyer's payment," Muth said. "Or, if the borrower has a 5 percent down payment, a relative can put the remaining 15 percent into a CD to avoid the PMI requirement."

Advantage Bank has been serving families in southeastern Wisconsin and northeastern Illinois for more than 90 years. "This is another way for us to serve the communities in which we do business and to make the American dream of owning a home available to more people," Muth concluded.

Frisch told about a particular dresser at the home of a Vernon Hills customer where the owner's two large dogs had literally chewed the corners.

Through a special Furniture Medic product called "Technifil," she was able to create table corners, thus making the piece appear like new.

Technifil has also been used by Frisch to make new arm rests on chairs and other furniture parts that have been destroyed. "And it takes on wonderful See FURNITURE page C2

Builder breaks ground for center

Waukegan Mayor William Durkin and Tanguay-Burke-Stratton L.L.C. Comprehensive Real Estate Services jointly announced the development of a 16-acre land parcel at a press conference and ground breaking ceremony in north suburban Waukegan.

Target and Jewel/Osco will anchor the 186,000 sq. ft. shopping center to be developed at the southwest corner of Lewis Avenue and Yorkhouse Road. It is anticipated that the 71,000 sq. ft. Jewel/Osco will be open in late 1996 and that the 96,000 sq. ft. Target store and 12 smaller retail shops will be open in the early summer of 1997.

Mayor Durkin commented, "Yorkhouse Commons will be the most significant new retail development in Waukegan in 20 years. I'm glad that this land is being put to good use for the benefit of the surrounding community." At the groundbreaking, Mark Tanguay, president of Tanguay-Burke-Stratton L.L.C., noted, "We are excited that the joint efforts of TBS and the City of Waukegan have resulted in this shopping center. We look forward to a mutually beneficial relationship for years to come."

Jim Kartheiser of TBS Development Services Group, Inc. added, "We have a long and valued relationship with Target and Jewel/Osco and are pleased to bring these two extraordinary retailers into the Waukegan community."

Tanguay-Burke-Stratton L.L.C. will be responsible for leasing the shopping center and TBS Property Management will be responsible for managing the center.

Minding your own business Building a loyal customer base

DON TAYLOR
Correspondent

In business it is bound to happen. Sooner or later, there will be a confrontation with an unhappy customer. The problem may be real or imagined. It may be of serious consequence or a simple misunderstanding. How to deal with angry or unhappy customers can help build a loyal customer base or hasten the demise of a business.

Research shows that the average unhappy customer tells at least 16 others about unsatisfactory service. Few small businesses can afford this much negative publicity. Therefore, deal with problems quickly and sincerely.

Difficulties with customers often occur when they feel cheated or believe that a business didn't live up to the end of their bargain. Because of previous bad experiences with others, they may feel that they won't care about their problems either.

Often, these customers are angry and preconditioned to unload on a company. They may think someone won't listen unless they show how upset they are.

Angry customers require careful handling. However, if they are treated fairly and their problems are resolved, they become a steady, reliable source of income for a business. These customers know they will take good care of them if another problem arises. Loyal customers are often worth thousands of dollars over the life of a business.

We have a problem

The first step toward solving any problem is acknowledging its existence. Don't try to deny that the situation exists. If a customer believes there is a problem, there is a problem. The business may not be fault, but it is still a problem to solve. Stay calm, acknowledge the problem and focus on what the customer is really saying.

The second step is to listen carefully and patiently. The angry customer needs to vent some frustration. By being a patient listener, will accomplish two goals. First, it allows the customer to work off some anger. Second, it helps to begin to gather facts and details about what went wrong.

After the customer has lowered his or her adrenaline level, try to find the real cause of dissatisfaction. This may take some probing. Once the true source of unhappiness is found, it is a step closer to finding a solution and building loyalty.

Find the facts

Engage in fact-finding dialogue. Ask relevant questions. Make certain to know what happened and when. It doesn't hurt at this point to make some notes. When customers see someone writing down their comments, they may stick a little closer to the facts. Notes also serve as a record in case the problem is not resolved right away.

Be careful at this point not to make a $2 deal into a $10 process. If the problem is straightforward and the solution is simple, solve it, make the customer happy and go on. It is only in more complex or more costly situations that this detailed, fact-finding conversation is important.

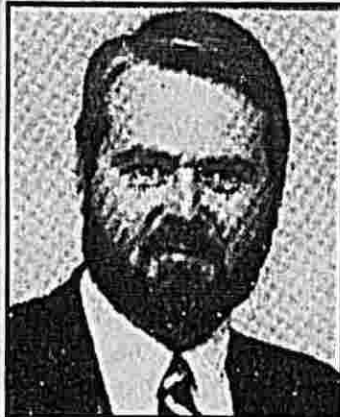

Once all the information is in hand, try to resolve the problem as quickly as possible. Ask the customer to propose a solution. If what the customer proposes is realistic, do it. Replace the item, refund the money or fix the problem.

If the problem cannot be solved immediately, let the customer know what the company is going to do. Communicate any progress to the customer regularly. Postponing the problem is not a solution. Remember that the goal of resolving complaints is to create a satisfied customer that will tell others about the excellent service.

color!" she added.

Humorously she described the causes which bring her customers. "A lot of dogs have kept me in business," Frisch said.

Caning chair seats is another of Frisch's specialties. She is effervescent in her description of learning the new techniques. Frisch pulls out a book and thumbs through it, stopping at the intricate hand-woven designs she hopes to someday master.

For now she does the basics well, using split reed and pre-woven materials.

Something hard to find with physicians these days, the Furniture Medic said she even makes housecalls. And when it's time for that special operation, her husband Jim is usually by her side eager to assist.

"It's basically a family business," she explained.

In one instance, Frisch headed to a lighting company in Waukegan.

The owner was concerned his customers would get snagged on the wood counter which had been damaged resulting in sharp protruding pieces. When she was done at the lighting store, "He (the owner) was thrilled; because it looked like he had new furniture," she said. Frisch had fixed the dings and gouges and left knowing she had a happy client.

The Sylvan Lake resident said she began her journey into the furniture fixing world three years this August.

As a human resource manager at a Fortune 500 corporation, Frisch was suddenly faced with the necessity of finding a new job. Her company had downsized, causing her to lose her position.

Not knowing exactly what to do, she sat down with her husband, and discussed and prayed about the course she should take.

"I loved to work, and I wanted to work, but I didn't want to do the same thing," she said. After studying various options, the couple found a franchise which they felt was perfect for them to own.

The Rolling Meadows company Jim works for as a technical engineer, allowed him to travel with Joan to Atlanta, Ga., where they went through extensive training.

While at the headquarters, the two were advised to purchase a van so that picking up customer furniture would be a breeze.

They bought a white one, and the company applied the Furniture Medic logo on the sides.

Now that her business has grown in the last three years, Frisch has hired a part-time woman to help her out.

For all your furniture repair needs, contact Joan Frisch at (847) 949-5360.

New grads need health care coverage

JAMES WALSH
Correspondent

The good news is your son or daughter graduated from college. No more tuition bills or frantic "send money" phone calls. The bad news is that he or she hasn't landed a job yet, and your family health care coverage for children expires when they are no longer full-time students.

If your graduate is covered by your own policy, the best choice is COBRA. What the acronym stands for—Comprehensive Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act—doesn't sound like it has much to do with health insurance, but it does. Under COBRA, you can maintain coverage on your child, at your own group's rates, for up to 18 months after regular coverage expires.

In almost all cases, that's a real bargain. You pay the premium to your employer, and your child has 18 months to find a job with health benefits. Group premiums are almost always cheaper than individual rates.

If, on the other hand, your child wasn't covered by your insurance, you may be in the market for an individual policy to tide your grad over until he or she lands a job. The monthly premium notwithstanding, there is still some good news: new grads are young and tend to be very healthy, meaning they qualify for the lowest premiums.

Before you start shopping for coverage, bear in mind that there isn't much likelihood of many claims, you'd be better off choosing a high deductible. Going from a $250 deductible to a $2,000 deductible could cut your premiums in half.

And don't be shocked when you learn that it costs 30 to 50 percent more to insure a daughter than a son.

This isn't sex discrimination at work. It's simple reflection of the fact that women are more likely to have their health problems earlier than men do. Premiums even up to age 50. After that, premiums become higher for men.

In general, your out-of-pocket costs are capped at $1,000 or $2,000, once you've met the deductible. Many insurers offer discounts to non-smokers. At Blue Cross, it's about 20 percent.

Regardless of whether you choose COBRA, a bare-bones policy or a gilt-edged one, it's bound to be better than going without coverage altogether. And it will certainly be cheaper than college tuition, room and board.

Hospital offers tips for beating the heat

It can happen at work or at play, indoors or out, and when it does, heat stress can be much more serious than getting a little hot under the collar. With temperatures on the rise, Good Shepherd Hospital offers the following advice for keeping your cool when the mercury heats up.

"Serious, even life-threatening, medical conditions can result from becoming overheated," said Stephen Rivard, M.D., a specialist in emergency medicine. "Even in air conditioning, heat generated by machinery, plus high humidity or strenuous physical activity, can raise your body temperature to a dangerous level."

It's difficult to predict who might suffer from heat stress but prior heat injury increases your chance of additional problems. "Individual factors that determine your susceptibility include age, weight, physical condition, metabolism, alcohol or drug use," Dr. Rivard said. "May medical conditions, such as high blood pressure can also increase your heat sensitivity."

There are several types of heat stress including heat stroke, heat exhaustion, fainting, heat cramps and heat rashes.

Heat stroke is the failure of the body's internal thermostat. If your body's temperature regulations fails, your temperature could rise to critical levels. When the temperature becomes too high, body organs shut down and death results.

"Heat stroke is difficult to predict because it's caused by a combination of highly variable factors," Dr. Rivard said. "The symptoms of heat stroke include confusion or panic, loss of consciousness, lack of sweating, dehydration, abnormally high body temperature, irrational behavior, convulsions, and hot, dry skin."

If you suspect someone suffers from heat stroke, call 911 for emergency medical attention. Place the victim in a cool, shady area and remove outer clothing. Dampen the skin and keep the air moving to reduce body temperature. Lost fluids should be replaced as soon as possible.

If any of the above symptoms are present, Dr. Rivard said don't let the victim assure you that everything's all right. No one with symptoms of heat stroke should be left alone or sent home without a doctor's approval. Recovery depends on the victim's prior physical condition and the effectiveness of first aid efforts.

Heat exhaustion should also not be dismissed lightly for several reasons. Fainting associated with heat exhaustion can be dangerous, especially if you're operating machinery. Or you may be injured if you faint and fall. Many of the symptoms are similar to those of heat stroke, including headache, vertigo and dizziness, thirst, nausea, weakness and giddiness.

Fortunately, heat exhaustion responds rapidly to prompt treatment. A victim should be taken to a cooler area, given fluids, and allowed to rest under frequent observation.

In fainting, the body's internal temperature balance is not affected. "Excessive blood collects in the arms and legs, so the brain doesn't receive sufficient oxygen and the individual loses consciousness," Dr. Rivard said. "Fainting is rapid, unpredictable and dangerous because of the risk of injury from equipment or falls. Fainting can usually be prevented if you remain active, move around and stay calm."

If you're involved in heavy physical labor in a hot environment, you're a prime candidate for heat cramps. Because sweating causes a loss of salt and other essential minerals, muscles often begin cramping. Symptoms can be relieved by rest and replacing lost fluids.

Despite common beliefs, salt tablets should not be used because they tend to retain both salt and water in the digestive system. This deprives the rest of the body of water and precious electrolytes and make the situation worse.

"A commercial replenishing fluid, such as Gatorade, may be taken frequently, if medically recommended," Dr. Rivard said. Adding salt to food should be done carefully by anyone with cardiovascular disorders.

Although more irritating than dangerous, rashes are the most common problems caused by working in a warm environment. Prickly heat appears as red pimples, usually where clothing is tight. Your skin may be prickly or itch, particularly as sweating increases. If your skin remains wet, the rash most likely will become worse.

Heat rash pimples may become infected if not treated. In most cases, rashes disappears when the individual returns to a cool environment.

Some overall tips for beating the summer heat include wearing loose fitting clothing, wearing a hat, sun screen and sun glasses when outdoors, limiting physical activity indoors and out, and making sure that small children and older adults remain in an air conditioned or cool environment.

For more information about heat stress, call Good Shepherd Hospital's HealthAdvisor HealthFacts line. Just dial 800-323-8622 anytime, 24 hours a day, and select HealthFacts on your touch-tone phone. A voice message will answer your call and ask you to enter the code number for the specific health topic you'd like to hear. Just enter No. 4910 and/or No. 7442 for information on heat stress. If you need help of additional instructions, simply enter 1000.

Reed Randle Ford acknowledged for community service

This past June, Reed Randle Ford was acknowledged by the Waukegan Public High Schools for their 35 year commitment to serving the Lake County community. The honor, expressed in the form of an engraved gold plaque, was presented to Mrs. Donna Mandziara, General Manager, and Mr. John Krause, General Sales Manager for Reed Randle Ford. Highlighted was Reed Randle's annual donations of drivers education vehicles, showing their continuing efforts to support Lake County's youth.

Donating drivers education vehicles is only one of the many community programs in which Reed Randle Ford is involved. Reed Randle has been an annual sponsor of the Lake County "D.A.R.E." Program for over six years. "D.A.R.E.", Drug Abuse Resistance Education, is a national program which encourages our children to make their own choices, become leaders and stay off drugs. Reed Randle's annual contribution to this program has been the "D.A.R.E." truck, a highly visible symbol of the "D.A.R.E." program. Each year this truck, staffed by officer Angelo Caliendo of the Waukegan Police Department, tours schools and special events promoting the "D.A.R.E." philosophy. Plus, this year Reed Randle announce a new contribution, in cooperation with Toni Kukoc of the Chicago Bulls. Reed Randle pledged a cash donation to the

"D.A.R.E." program for points scored by Mr. Kukoc. The final dollar amount soared as the Bulls went on to win the Championship.

Youth programs in Lake County are a priority for Reed Randle Ford. Each Fall, since 1991, local high school athletes gain recognition through Reed Randle's sponsorship of "The Player of the Game" program and game broadcasts on WKRS Radio.

Programs such as these help demonstrate why Reed Randle is receiving this acknowledgment and why Reed Randle continues to be recognized by the community. Reed Randle's Ford invites other businesses to join them in their efforts, displaying the leadership that is necessary to keep our community healthy and safe.

Reed Randle's civic position extends into their business philosophy as well, "100 percent Customer Satisfaction" is the goal of the folks at Reed Randle Ford. They know that when they fulfill their customer's needs they make a friend in the community as well. Or course, part of this is done with competitive pricing, not only in the sales area but in the Service, Parts, and the Body Shop departments.

Reed Randle Ford is located at Grand and Greenbay Roads, just three miles east of Great America, 336-2340. After 56 years, unbeatable Reed Randle Ford is still doing business with friends.

Automatic transmission may shift when car in overdrive

Q. I just bought a 1992 Lumina with automatic transmission and 3.1 liter engine. I took it back to the dealer because at around 40 to 50 mph I felt a shifting of the overdrive when I lifted slightly off the accelerator, then, pressed lightly down on it adjusting for traffic. I have been told that this is the computer adjusting for driving pattern and is caused by the torque converter. This is an unusual condition for me. Is it common for all of these vehicles?—Thomas D.

A. I am not aware of any "computer" controlling the overdrive function per se. I always thought that there was a preset threshold that had to be crossed to fully complete the shift into overdrive. There is then a speed range when the overdrive will shift in or out of gear. If you are in that range and you are experiencing the shifting, get out of the overdrive and into your standard drive. Many people use the overdrive constantly. For highway-speed driving that's fine, but it will be normal to experience such shifting when you are in that threshold range.

Q. I purchased a 1991 Mercury Tracer that had 13,500 miles on it. After driving it a day, I observed that the brakes squealed whenever I used them. I was told this was normal, due to the materials used in the brake pads. I find the squealing getting louder and I am really worried about it.—Jeanette P.

A. Yes, it's somewhat normal, Jeanette, though not desirable. With the disappearance of asbestos from brake linings.

Griefnotes

How can I prevent difficulties from grief?

Many who confront grief for the first time are surprised at the intensity of their feelings. Grief is most often associated with the death of a loved one but it can also result from divorce, loss of bodily function, moving or from child growing up and leaving home. Because grief is poorly understood, those who have not experienced it personally can be poor helpers. By learning about grief ahead of time we can more capably assist friends in their time of need and can more readily understand the intensity of feelings when death affects our families. Take time to read and inquire about grief and learn ways to assist those in need of support.

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I have been employed with the same organization for the past 6 years, and in the same secretarial type of capacity for a total of 20. I was recently to my surprise, laid off from my employer for reasons unknown at this time. I am currently collecting unemployment compensation yet have been applying for several positions through the newspaper with no luck. I came across an advertisement for a secretarial position through an employment agency and called to find out about the position. While it sounded like exactly what I was looking for, I made an appointment to go into the agency and find out more about it. Never having been to an employment agency before, I went to the agency the following day not really sure of what to expect. The application that I was asked to fill out was quite thorough in the questions that were asked of me. When I had completed the application, I was then asked to sit down with one of the counselors who further asked questions of me that were previously asked of me on the application. I questioned the redundancy of this and was told that this is necessary for the processing of my paperwork. After we were finished, I was told that I would then be taking a few different tests, which frankly bothered me. Someone who has been in the workforce as long as I have been should not have to be put through a barrage of unnecessary tests. Among these tests was a typing test, for which I refused to take. I have been a secretary for 20 years, I told the counselor and quite frankly, if I didn't know how to type, I would not have been one for very long. I was told that these tests are necessary for evaluating the job applicant and therefore they were required before they would consider sending me out on an interview. I basically said to them to take their chances. Weeks have come and gone, and this agency constantly has advertisements running in the paper for positions which we both know I am qualified for. The problem is, every time I call them to find out why they are not considering me for the positions, their answer is something to the effect of, when are you coming in to take your typing test? I cannot understand why an agency would want to cut their noses to spite their faces. They could obviously make some quick commissions off of me, yet are being stubborn in the fact that they will not unless I take this test. What do you think of this? E.K. - Waukegan.

A: Whose cutting whose nose? I think you have a gross misunderstanding of the situation at hand. Be advised that employment agencies most often have stringent rules for testing, which they not only consider to be their requirements, but their clients as well for whom these positions are to be filled are also required that the agency has administered these tests.

PET OF THE WEEK

Homes Needed Now

The "dog" days of summer are here and Orphans of the Storm Animal Shelter is currently housing over two hundred stray, lost, abandoned dogs who are in desperate need of a loving home. Summer is the busiest and most crowded time for our shelter. Animals pour in from all over Lake County and there is never enough space. Our selection is outstanding. We have small, medium and large dogs in every breed mix, color, shape and coat type possible. And they all have one thing in common: THEY WANT A HOME. Shelter life is not the life a dog was meant to live. Dogs need food, shelter and care and these we can provide. But they also need love, companionship and a sense of belonging. These are needs that a shelter can never provide. If you have a dog and would like to get him a playful friend or if you are without a dog and would like to have a wet nose and a wagging tail to fill your home with joy, please stop by Orphans and find a friend whose capacity for love and loyalty is boundless. When you adopt a pet, you save a life and bring something wonderful into your life too!

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEKEEPING AND OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more. Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 am - 5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

SPECTACULAR

The 2397 square foot Spectacular is one home that genuinely lives up to its name. The beautiful exterior, elegantly faced with brick and scalloped siding, is a perfect mate to the equally handsome interior floor design.

An old fashioned front porch, covered and boasting attractive ornamental railing, is the first sight to greet your visitors. As they step into the vaulted entry, that reaches to the second floor, the openness of the Spectacular becomes evident.

With all the sleeping areas on the second level, the first floor is completely functional and allows ease of movement throughout. An enormous bay window extends the living room to the front, affording an excellent view, and a great spot to spend an afternoon with a good book. Adjoining the living room is the formal dining area.

To the right of the entry is a good-sized home office. Whether it is to be used for conducting business or managing household accounts, your seclusion and privacy are assured. There is room here for a Personal Computer, filing cabinets, chairs, etc.

To the rear, is a spacious family room. It has nice cozy fireplace, vaulted ceiling, and sliding glass doors that lead to a railed deck.

The walk-through kitchen and breakfast nook provide a great place for informal meals and morning get-togethers. Kitchen features include a bar with mini-refrigerator, island cooktop and a utility room with a sink, sewing table and laundry chute from the second floor.

Upstairs the isolated master suite occupies one side of the top floor. Amenities here include a huge bay window, walk-in closet, vanity and private bathroom. Step outside on the railed walkway, and you have a view of the entry below.

There are two other bedrooms on the top floor. Each has plenty of closet space and they share a full bathroom. Unen storage is nearby.

The two-car garage is equipped with a compartmentalized storage section, hobby area and a long built-in workbench.

For a study kit of the SPECTACULAR (335-050), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.
